WIDOW TESTIFIES KINNEY SELECTED MOHRLE'S SLAYER

She Swears "Yellow Kid" Was Told That Constable Had Chosen Patrick Clancy for Job.

JURY CRITICISES POLICE IN VERDICT OF HOMICIDE

Score of "Egan's Rats" and Other Gangsters Taken Into Custody at Inquest—Victim of Feud Shooting Was Unarmed When Killed.

At the inquest Tuesday into the slaying of "Yellow Kid" Mohrle in the Four Courts Monday, the widow of the murdered man swore that her husband had been told that Constable Mike Kinney had "deputized" Patrick Clancy to kill Mohrle.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict that Mohrle came to his death by wounds inflicted by Thomas Kane, and added this paragraph to the verdict.

"We, the jury, further believe that murder is getting to be a common crime and certainly is giving our fair city a bad reputation, and that if proper efforts were made by our officials a great deal of such crimes would be prevented."

Before the inquest opened in the Coroner's office, detectives mingling with the crowd that took up all the available standing space, arrested members of "Egan's Rats" and other gangsters, about 25 in all, of which Kane is reputed to be a member. The men arrested said they had no business at the Coroner's office other than curiosity, and they were locked up as a precautionary measure.

Among the men arrested was John Strube, who, the police learned, was wanted by the grand jury to give evidence concerning "gang ethics" at 2 p. m. Tuesday. He was given a grand jury subpena and released.

The police of the Carr Street Station Tuesday arrested Eugene A. Boehm, 33 years old, market master at the Union Market, on suspicion that he was the man with whom Mahrle was talking when Kane opened fire. Boehm was placed in the Central District holdover, to be held for the Circuit Attorney. He was kept "incommunicado," no one being permitted to see him.

Elmer (Yellow) Holmes, 25 years old, of 4244 Swan avenue; Pete Holland, 45 years old, of 3601 Evans avenue; Edward C. Hendrick, 27 years old, of 1832 Wash street, and Miss Maggie Wideman, 23 years old, of 1130 North Nineteenth street, all tobacco workers employed at the Liggitt & Meyer's factory, were taken from the factory and held by detectives Tuesday.

Told of Attack on Mohrle.

They were to have been witnesses for Mohrle in his trial for killing Young. They told the police that last August Mohrle was attacked in his coal yard by a gang of men and that he sought refuge in Holland's back yard, Holland at that time living next to the coal yard.

Miss Wideman said that one of the men, whom Mohrle afterwards said was Joe Burns, had a revolver and was threatening to shoot Mohrle, but she jumped between them and pleaded for Mohrle's life. Mohrle told them (Holland and his visitors) that it was "Sam Young's gang" after him.

Each of the four told the police that they had been threatened frequently and ordered to remain away from Mohrle's trial and not to give evidence for him.

It was learned Tuesday that Circuit Attorney Jones, who will prosecute Kane, was a witness of the killing of Mohrle. He was ascending the Four Courts stairs Monday morning when he heard Kane's first and second shots. He stopped and looking back, saw Kane fire the other shots and run out, revolver in hand. He says he did not see Kane's face well enough to identify him, and, as there are other witnesses who were nearer he probably will not be needed as a witness to establish the fact of the crime.

Mrs. Mohrle testified that she had been told by a friend that Constable Mike Kinney had deputized Clancey, who is a deputy constable, to kill Mohrle and avenge the death of Constable Young.

She testified also that Elmer Holmes, a reputed friend of her husband, but in reality a friend of Thomas W. Kane, who shot Mohrle, tapped him on the shoulder and called him from the courtroom Monday for the purpose, she believed of running him into the death trap.

Mrs. Mohrle also testified that Clancey had been around her home numerous times, as she believed, looking for an opportunity to get Mohrle.

Ten days after Young was killed, she testified, Thomas Kane and eight or ten men came to her house at night and tried to force their way in. She said she gave her husband his revolver and told him to go out and drive the men away. When he went out with the pistol in his hand she said Kane and his companions ran across the street. The only other man in the crowd she recognized, she said, was Lee Breed.

READY TO TRY SLAYER LAST WEEK THIS MONTH

CIRCUIT ATTORNEY JONES said to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday: "The State will be ready to try Kane the last week in June. July is the vacation period and the docket for the next two weeks is crowded, but I am anxious to go ahead with the trial. The grand jury ought to indict him in the next few days, and there will be no reason why we shouldn't be able to proceed this month, unless the defendant gets a continuance by affidavits that some of his witnesses are missing or some other excuse that will be accepted by the Court."

Soon after they moved to Twenty-third street and Sullivan avenue she said she saw Kane and several other men lurking about the neighborhood. Her husband started to go out, she said, but she called him back, gave him his revolver and kept him in the house. She said Kane and the gang stayed around for three hours watching for Mohrle.

Before Mrs. Mohrle took the stand two eye witnesses had testified that, instead of being on the broad staircase leading to the second floor of the Four Courts building, Kane walked right up to Mohrle and was standing, facing him, not more than three feet from him when he opened fire.

This was in contradiction of the accounts of the shooting given to the police up to the time the witnesses gave their testimony under oath.

The inquest opened at 10:30 a. m. Kane, a big man with sandy brown hair and ruddy face, seemed undisturbed as he took a seat in the Coroner's office. He was accompanied by N. P. I. Rosch, his attorney, with whom he held frequent whispered conferences.

Dr. Jules Baron, Coroner, presided over the inquest in person, the examination of witnesses being conducted by Deputy Coroner Carriere and Assistant Circuit Attorney Rosskopf. Chief of Detectives Smith occupied a seat close to the Coroner's desk.

Kane had his own stenographer present and the stenographer for the Coroner's office also took notes on the proceedings.

The police were on the alert as the boldness of the Mohrle shooting had brought forth an order that every precaution must be taken against any disorder or any manifestation of gang venom at the inquest.

"A friend of mine told me to warn my husband that Mike Kinney had deputized Patrick Clancy to kill him," Mrs. Mohrle testified. "On the day we moved to the Sullivan avenue house I saw Clancey and an old man known to me

UNIVERSITY CITY COMES DOWN ON A MOUNTAIN TOP

St. Louisans Make Descent on Peak Among the Lookouts in Alabama.

TWO DAYS IN AIR

It Is Believed New York's 360-Mile Record Is Equaled or Exceeded.

INDIANA HAS LANDED

Detailed Records of the Six Balloons That Started From Indianapolis.

Dispatches received in St. Louis Tuesday morning brought news that two balloons that started from Indianapolis on Saturday night in the national distance race had broken the American endurance record of 44 hours. Two St. Louisans living in a wicker basket for more than 48 hours swept southward in the University City and landed among the clouds on a peak in the Lookout Mountains in Alabama some time Monday night. Two Indianans in the Indiana rode in their swaying cage for 48 hours and 50 minutes and finally came to earth at Dickson, Tenn.

St. Louis aeronauts are overjoyed at the achievement of John Berry and Paul J. McCullough. Berry is a qualified pilot, but it was McCullough's first trip in a balloon, and that these two men should have done better than the veterans in air navigation, including Capt. Baldwin and A. Holland Forbes, made St. Louisans proud of their representatives in the great race.

Wonderful Record Made.

Until definite information is received as to the exact time the University City landed it will not be known whether she exceeded the endurance record of the Indiana or not. At any rate she seems to have equaled the distance record of the New York, 360 miles, and possibly has excelled it.

Up to today it had been erroneously reported that the University City landed at Blanche, Tenn., on Sunday night. When A. B. Lambert and H. E. Honeywell of the balloon St. Louis III returned to St. Louis Tuesday they brought the surprising information that when they left Tennessee the University City was still in the air. It was the St. Louis III that landed near Blanche, Tenn., and not the University City.

Message From McCullough.

To confirm this the following message was received Tuesday morning by the Ford Auto Co., by which Paul J. McCullough is employed:

"Fort Payne, Ala., June 7.—Landed safe on Lookout Mountain, Ala.—P. J. McCullough."

The message was sent at 12:01 o'clock Tuesday morning.

In their two days in the air Berry and McCullough lived on canned meats and vegetables. They had no place to sleep except on tiny seats built on the sides of the wicker basket. Much of the time they were compelled to watch their instruments, to record the altitude, temperature and locality.

Expected Long Trip.

Their basket, dangling beneath the great gas bag with its 78,000 cubic feet of gas, was only 3½ by 4½ feet by 4 feet. The basket was not constructed with any idea of giving them any advantage over competitors. That they had a record-breaking trip in mind is indicated by the fact they took extra clothing, consisting of corduroy suits and rain coats. Overcoats and blankets were rejected as too bulky.

Their supply of provisions was calculated to last a week and 27 bags of ballast were hung from the outside of their basket before the start.

The balloon University City formerly was called the Yankee. Under that name last fall she made a trip from St. Louis to Georgia carrying Honeywell and Lambert. Farmers fired rifle bullets at her on that trip and she narrowly missed destruction in a forest fire. Honeywell, who built her, says she is a worthy craft and predicts she will add still greater luster to St. Louis' fame in aeronautics.

Went High for Right Currents.

H. E. Honeywell said Tuesday that on Sunday and Monday Berry and McCullough must have been at a great altitude to get the desired air current. In the daytime their feet and legs were chilled and their faces burning under the rays of the sun.

"It was our balloon, the St. Louis III, that landed near Blanche on Sunday," said Mr. Honeywell. "We dropped gently to the earth at the railroad station at Taft, Tenn., two and a half miles from Blanche, at 7:20 o'clock Sunday night.

"We were so near the railroad track that all we had to do was to transfer the balloon to a car, and we were prepared for our return to St. Louis. We sent our telegram from Kelso, Tenn. It was Lambert and I who stopped with a farmer of the name of Saunders, not Berry and McCullough, as the reports had it.

The balloon Indiana was reported on Sunday to have descended near enough the ground to obtain a bucket of water. This was at Shackle Island, Tenn. On Monday she was reported to have landed on a pile of ties at Ashland City, Tenn., and later to have resumed her voyage. Mr. Honeywell said Tuesday that the rules of ballooning made the touching of land a disqualification. To permit the guide rope of a balloon to be held more than fifteen minutes is sufficient to disqualify a racing balloon, he said.

BEST PREVIOUS RECORDS MADE IN BALLOON RACES

THE best previous American record for time aloft was made in this country by LeBlanc two years ago. He sailed from St. Louis and stayed up 44 hours.

The world's endurance record was made last year from Berlin by Dr. Alfred Wegener and Dr. Kurt. Their time aloft was 72 hours.

The records made by the six balloons entered are as follows:

University City—John Berry and Paul McCullough; landed at Lookout Mountain, Ala., Monday night; distance 360 miles. Time, not ascertained, but probably exceeding 48 hours.

New York—A. Holland Forbes and Clifford B. Garmon, landed at Corinth, Miss., at 5:10 a. m. Monday; distance from Indianapolis, 360 miles. Time in air, 36 hours 10 minutes.

St. Louis III—Albert Bond Lambert and H. E. Honeywell, landed at Taft, Tenn., at 7:30 p. m. Sunday; distance 325 miles. Time 26 hours 10 minutes.

Indiana—Carl Fisher and G. L. Bumbaugh of Indianapolis; landed at Dickson, Tenn., at 6 o'clock Monday night; distance, 275 miles. Time, 48 hours 50 minutes.

Hoosier — Capt. Baldwin and Charles Walsh; landed at Greenbrier, Tenn., Monday morning. Distance, 230 miles.

Cleveland—A. H. Morgan and J. H. Wade; landed at Nashville, Ind., at 9 p. m. Saturday. Distance, 40 miles. Time, 4 hours.

ANYTHING DOING IN THE FEUD TODAY?
June 8th

Lunchgoers who ventured out without umbrellas Tuesday afternoon had to make port several times between Broadway and Eighth or Ninth street. A series of showers, each lasting 3 to 7 minutes, kept awnings dripping continuously.

The skies were cloudy in the intervals, and so many persons went about gazing into the air for raindrops that automobiles and trolley cars had to fairly crawl along to keep from hitting them.

Store doorways and railroad ticket offices were crowded and many a steady bookkeeper failed to get back to the revolving stool at his accustomed 1 p. m., since the showers started about that time.

The official forecast: Unsettled weather with showers Tuesday night or Wednesday; not much change in temperature; variable winds.

DEFENDING HER MOTHER, WOMAN'S NAME ATTACKED

Albert T. Wilson, on Trial for Killing Wife, Suggests Lawyer's Queries.

Attorneys for Albert T. Wilson, who is on trial for shooting and killing his wife, assailed the character of his daughter, Mrs. Clara Barber, who testified against him Tuesday.

Mrs. Barber made a strong defense of her mother, and testified that since the tragedy she has married Robert S. Chambliss, a railroad man, who was accused by Wilson of being too friendly with his wife.

Wilson's defense is that he went home April 2 and found Chambliss with his wife. In a fit of anger he shot and killed her.

When the daughter, aged 22, took the witness stand she gave her name as Mrs. Clara Barber, and a few minutes later declared that on May 3, a month after the tragedy, she married Chambliss, whom she knew as Barber.

She was subjected to such a severe cross-examination by her father's attorneys, at his dictation, that she shook her fist in Wilson's face as she left the stand. Both the father and daughter showed indications of great anger toward each other.

She testified that her mother did not threaten to strike her father with a hatchet, as he charges. She declared that Wilson has no reason whatever to be jealous of Chambliss.

An effort was made to show that Chambliss has another wife living, but the witness declared that she has no knowledge of it. She said that so far as she knows she is his only wife, and that he courted her and married her under the name of Barber.

Mrs. Barber resented questions intended to cast a reflection on her character, and looked daggers at her father every time they were asked. The Wilsons formerly lived at Second and Kosciusko streets.

LIGHTNING DOES MAID'S WORK

Partially Undresses Girl as She Swings in Hammock Watching Storm.

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—Miss Hilda Clarke of Clayville, Powhattan County, while swinging in a hammock on the veranda of her home watching the marshalling of the storm clouds, was struck by a bolt of lightning, which tore off her garter, ripped the silken hose from her limb and shattered a high-heeled slipper. Miss Clarke was, of course, shocked at the occurrence, but otherwise she was not injured.

Bank Bookkeeper Is Arrested.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 8.—Charged with having taken funds of the bank, Frederick H. Brigham, head bookkeeper of the Merchants National Bank, this city, was arrested today. It is said the shortage will reach $40,000.

LAWYER BEATEN BY BROTHER OF SCARED WOMAN

When Thrasher Tires, Professional Man Flees, but Is Arrested.

Charles Carlisle of 3149 Pine street, a lawyer, was in Judge Tracy's court Tuesday to explain how he happened to lose his hat.

The hat was found Monday night, lying on the sidewalk near Mrs. Alice Riley's home, at 2921 Manchester avenue, and at the spot where, a few minutes before, Mrs. Riley's brother and a boarder had beaten a man for annoying her.

Identified by Mrs. Riley.

A policeman, who arrived too late to see the fight, overtook Carlisle, hatless, a few blocks away, and conducted him to the Manchester Avenue Station. There Mrs. Riley identified him as the man who had annoyed her at the gateway of her home.

Mrs. Riley went with her husband, Charles Riley, Monday night to the home of the Stehle family, at 3521 Cook avenue, where Mrs. Mary Stehle died Sunday. A number of friends were at the house, and some of these asked Riley to remain all night. He consented, and Mrs. Riley started home alone.

He Follows Through Gateway.

She got off a Laclede car at Ewing avenue, and was unmolested until she reached the side door of her home. Then, just after she had entered the gate, she saw a man starting to enter after her. He spoke to her, but she was so frightened that she did not understand him.

Then she screamed, and her brother, Joe Lively, and the boarder, Frank Reeves, ran out of the house. A moment later the stranger was masticating the macadam.

When Lively and Reeves had wearied themselves, the evening being warm, they let the man go. He was still going when a policeman overtook him. Carlisle spent the night in a cell.

Judge Tracy fined Carlisle $10 Tuesday and said he was not sure he ought not to fine him $500. The young lawyer said he was seeking his own house, and being somewhat bewildered, asked Mrs. Riley to show him the way.

NAUGHTON CASE IS REVERSED BY SUPREME COURT

Decision Holds That There Was No Proof That Convicted House of Delegates Clerk Had Any Knowledge of Nature of Criminal Warner-Priesmeyer Conspiracy.

SENTENCED TO WORKHOUSE FOR 3 MONTHS, FINED $100

Attorneys for Convicted Man Argued that He Was Convicted Because He Stood on His Constitutional Right to Refuse to Testify Before the Grand Jury When His Testimony Might Incriminate Himself.

Danny Naughton was freed by the Supreme Court Tuesday from a three-months jail sentence and a $100 fine, and his conviction as an accessory to bribery was reversed and remanded. He is the fourth and last of the indicted participants in the Ascher garage boodle scandal to escape punishment. Of these, one, Delegate Fred W. Priesmeyer, was acquitted by a jury, and the other two, William R. Coyne and Delegate Ferd Warner, were freed by the Supreme Court after juries had given them two-year penitentiary sentences.

Case Decided on Its Merits.

Unlike the Warner decision, which was based on an omission of the word "the" from the indictment, the Supreme Court's decision in Naughton's case bears directly on the merits of the bribery charge. Judge Fox, who handed down the decision, declared that, in an essential point, the record of the evidence against Naughton was "as barren as the Desert of Sahara."

To convict Naughton, assistant clerk of the House, as accessory to bribery, Judge Fox stated, it should have been shown not only that he received the bribe money from the two delegates for safekeeping, but that he knew of the manner in which they had obtained it. The latter knowledge, Judge Fox says, Naughton was not proven to have possessed.

No Evidence He Knew of Agreement.

Judge Fox, in ordering the case reversed and remanded, gave directions to sustain the plea in abatement interposed by defendant. He says:

"There is not the slightest evidence so far as is disclosed by the record, either direct or circumstantial, that Naughton had any opportunity to talk to Warner and Priesmeyer concerning the corrupt agreement entered into by them with Ascher.

"Before Naughton can be convicted of being accessory to the crime of bribery, as charged in the indictment, it must be shown, at least by some sort of substantial proof, that he had some knowledge of the unlawful and corrupt agreement between Warner, Priesmeyer and Ascher. As to any proof of this fact the record is as barren as is the Desert of Sahara barren of plants and trees.

"Grant it that Naughton received $500 from Priesmeyer or Warner, or either of them, does this fact without additional proof authorize the indulgence of the presumption and inference that he had knowledge or information of the unlawful and corrupt agreement between Warner, Priesmeyer and Ascher, and that this money was received as a bribe?

State Failed to Establish Guilt.

"It may be that the defendant in this case is guilty of the offense charged in the indictment, but if we are longer to be guided by the well-settled rules as applicable to the administration of the criminal laws of this State, he cannot be convicted except upon substantial evidence establishing every vital and essential element of the offense with which he is charged.

"The only testimony upon the question as to where the defendant obtained this money was introduced by the State, which affirmatively shows that he did not receive it from either Warner or Priesmeyer. As to his knowledge or information as to any corrupt agreement between Warner, Priesmyer and Ascher and the receipt of this money as a bribe, there is not the slightest evidence to prove such fact. The State has wholly failed to establish some of the essential elements constituting such offnse."

The indictment charged that Naughton received the money with the felonious intent of concealing it, so that it would not be used as evidence against the principals. Judge Fisher of the Circuit Court, before whom Naughton was tried, held that the indictment was sufficient, and overruled a plea in abatement based on the charge of insufficiency.

Naughton at Liberty on Bond.

Judge Fisher said that, if Warner or Priesmeyer had been in possession of the money at the time of their arrest, the fact would have aided the State materially in prosecuting them, and that Naughton, in receiving the money from either and concealing it, made himself criminally liable.

Naughton has been at liberty on bond since his conviction in February, 1908. The principal evidence on which he was convicted was that he gave Sam Weisman the $500 which had been used by Henry Ascher and William C. Connett, Mayor Wells' secretary, as a boodle trap for Warner and Priesmeyer. Naughton's contumacy in refusing to appear before the grand jury was believed to have caused his indictment. He was for several weeks a missing witness in the investigation.

Because of the nature of the Supreme Court's decision, it is doubted at the Four Courts whether any attempt will be made to reindict Naughton. Circuit Attorney Jones has stated that he will endeavor to retry Warner, who was freed on a technicality.

Circuit Attorney Jones Will Take Up Case After Receiving Full Decision

Circuit Attorney Jones, when informed by a Post-Dispatch reporter that the Naughton case had been reversed, said that he was not prepared to state what his action in the matter will be.

"I shall consider the case in due time, of course," said Mr. Jones, "and take such action as the situation demands. For the present I haven't the slightest only as 'Wild Cat' walking down the street in front of the house.

Coroner Holds Inquest on Slaying of "Yellow Kid."

"I called a policeman's attention to Clancey and told him that Clancey was looking for a chance to shoot my husband. Later I saw Clancy and Harry Exnicious, who has been convicted of election frauds, walking up and down the street in front of our house. Having been warned that Clancey was trying to get a shot at my husband, I tried to keep him out of reach of the gang."

Mrs. Mohrle was asked if she believed her husband went out of the court room to smoke a cigarette.

"No," she said, "he has not smoked a cigarette for 10 years. Julia—Julia—I can't think of her name—told me she was sitting next to him in the courtroom when Elmer Holmes tapped him on the shoulder and asked him to come out in the hall, where he could speak to him a minute. Holmes was supposed to be a friend of my husband, but I am satisfied that he was a confederate of the gang that shot him at the Four Courts Monday."

The "Julia" she referred to was Julia Barry, Mrs. Mohrle later told a Post-Dispatch reporter. Holmes, who was held by the police Tuesday, denied calling Mohrle into the corridor.

Kane was put on the witness stand and was given an opportunity to make a statement. He refused to say a word. The case was then given to the jury.

Five detectives sat as a bodyguard around Kane and others, as well as uniformed policemen, mingled with the crowd. The five men, said by the police to be members of "Egan's Rats," who were arrested just before the inquest opened, were: John Strube, Jim Tobin, Tony Durand, John McDonald and James Earl.

They were all placed in the holdover except Strube, who, the police learned was wanted by the grand jury to appear before that body at 2 p. m. Tuesday to give testimony regarding "gang ethics." Strube was subpenaed and released.

When the testimony was all in and the jury retired to make up its verdict, the detectives who had been behind Kane stepped to one side for a few minutes, leaving his back, as he seemed to think, "unguarded." The instant he noticed that the detectives had moved, he whirled around nervously and faced the eager, pressing crowd, banked against the railing of the office.

After a jury was impaneled and the inquest had begun one of the first pieces of evidence submitted to the jurymen was the report of an autopsy held on Mohrle's body.

Five Wounds in Body.

Dr. J. H. Hartmann, autopsy physician in the Coroner's office, performed a postmortem on Mohrle's body. Dr. Hartmann's report to the Coroner showed that there were five wounds, three of which penetrated vital organs. In the order in which they were described in the physician's report the wounds were:

1. One entering the back of the head at the left side, its exit in the right frontal region, passing through the brain in a forward and upward course.

2. One entering left side of the chest, passing out through the back under the right shoulder blade, perforating the sixth rib and passing through the right lung and left lobe of the liver. Direction, backward and upward.

3. One entering the right side, 4½ inches below the armpit and passing out the left side of the chest, penetrating the pleura, right lobe of the liver, pancreas, small intestine, cardiac end of the stomach and the upper portion of the spleen. Direction, forward and downward.

4. One lacerating the outer skin of the right side of the abdomen, 3¼ inches long and ½ inch wide.

5. One lacerating the outer skin of the right hip, 2 inches long and ½ inch wide.

The directions of the two skin wounds were not given. None of the wounds was powder burned.

Carried Dying Man From Building.

The first witness was Sergt. Wade Matthews, who testified that he was in one of the courtrooms when he heard the shots. He ran out and found Mohrle, huddled in a corner, unconscious. He helped to carry the dying man into Judge Allen's courtroom, he said, and then went with him in the ambulance to the City Hospital, where Supt. Kirchner said Mohrle was dead.

Sergt. Matthews said he remained with the body until the Morgue was reached. The body was undressed, he said, and he searched the clothing. Mohrle had no revolver.

Detective John Schmidt testified that he was just leaving the Clark Avenue Police Court with Detective Dotzman when they heard the shots and saw a crowd running out of the Four Courts, followed by Kane, who crossed the street and ran through O'Donnell's saloon into an alley.

Schmidt said he and Dotzman followed and called to Kane to halt. Kane stopped and Schmidt said:

"What have you been doing?"

"I've shot the Yellow Kid," he said Kane replied.

Schmidt was asked if Kane said he had "burned" the Yellow Kid.

"No," replied the detective, "he said he had shot him. He didn't use the word burn."

Schmidt said that Kane handed a revolver to him and that he broke it and smelled the cylinder and barrel to ascertain if it had been discharged recently. He said Kane remarked, "O, you needn't do that—I done it."

He and Dotzman took Kane to Chief of Detectives Smith's office, he said, where Dotzman and Chief Smith questioned him.

Dotzman was called next. He said that in Chief Smith's office he asked Kane why he had shot Mohrle.

"It was either me or him," was Kane's reply, the witness said.

He said he asked Kane if Mohrle was armed, and that Kane said: "No, he didn't have a gun."

More Cartridges in Pocket.

He said that when Kane's weapon was surrendered to him and Schmidt it contained five empty cartridges and a loaded one. There were five loaded cartridges in the side pocket of Kane's coat, he said.

Chief Smith followed Dotzman on the stand. He said that Kane, as soon as he (Chief Smith) spoke to him, said: "I have nothing to say, Chief."

The witness said he went to the Four Courts corridor immediately after Kane was arrested and found three bullet holes, one in the door of the jailer's office, and one in the door casing and one in the plaster alongside the door.

Sheriff Nolte testified that he was in the back part of the Court of Criminal Correction when he heard five shots faintly. He walked rapidly out of the room, he said, and ran downstairs, dispersing the crowd that had collected about Mohrle. He assisted in carrying Mohrle into a courtroom, he said, went with him in the ambulance to the hospital and returned with the body to the Morgue, not leaving it until after Sergt. Matthews had searched the clothing. Mohrle had no wepons of any kind, he said.

Otto Hoffman, a grocer, living at 4112 Lexington avenue, who did not say what his business at the Four Courts had been, described the shooting. He said he was standing in the west wing of the corridor, leaning against an iron pillar when he saw Morhle talking to another man. An instant later, he said, Kane stepped in front of Mohrle, who had leaned over a little, as though he was throwing something away. Kane reached into his hip pocket and drew out a pistol in a rubber holster.

Hoffman said he saw Kane tear off the holster and shoot twice at Mohrie, who, slightly leaning, fell at the second shot. Then, he said, Kane leaned over Mohrle and deliberately fired three bullets into his body as fast as he could pull the trigger. The men were not more than three feet apart, he said, and directly facing each other when the first shot was fired.

Hoffman did not describe what happened after the firing of those three shots. He said he saw only four or five persons in the corridor at the time of the shooting.

Witness Tells of Being Instructed.

Henry Mohrle of 2223 Franklin avenue, a brother of the murdered man, volunteered the information when he was called to the witness stand that he had been approached by a man named Fitzgerald in the witness room attached to the room in which the Coroner was holding the inquest, and told to testify that his brother had threatened to kill Kane Monday morning.

"Fitzgerald, who hangs around Twenty-second and Franklin avenue, came up to me in the witness room," said Mohrle, "and said to me: 'Don't you know that "Yellow" threatened to kill Kane Monday morning? Now, go on the stand and swear to that.'

"I looked around for a policeman to have the man arrested, but before we could get a policeman into the witness room, Fitzgerald had sneaked out."

After Mohrle had testified, Deputy Coroner Carriere and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Rosskopf hurried into the witness room and remained there for several minutes. Meanwhile the inquest was postponed until they came out. They did not disclose what they had learned, but Sergt. Wade Matthews stood guard over the witness room until the inquest was finished.

When Mohrle fell, Hoffman said, Kane bent over him and fired three more shots right into his body. Hoffman was standing when he gave this part of his testimony and held his hand down, jerking in three times to illustrate the manner in which the last three shots were fired.

This incident, Mohrle said, occurred in the Coroner's office, a few minutes before the inquest was begun and while he was waiting to testify.

Mohrle told of his brother's fears that the "gang" of which Kane is alleged to be a member, would seek to avenge the death of Constable Sam Young. He said that Tom Kane, Lee Breed and Pat Clancy frequently were seen loitering about his brother's home.

"Fred never talked about the killing of Young," said Mohrle. "On one occasion he told me of a letter he had presented to Chief Creecy asking that he be given police protection."

This communication, it is said, was signed by a leading Republican politician. Mohrle testified that his brother was called from the courtroom by a man named Holmes, who is employed at the St. Louis branch of the American Tobacco Co., but that Holmes was not present when the shooting occurred.

"My brother did not go outside to smoke a cigarette as he does not smoke cigarettes," said Henry the witness. "Both Gov. Johnson, his lawyer and myself warned him not to leave.

"My attention was attracted to something in the courtroom when Fred slipped away unnoticed.

Mohrle, on being questioned by Assistant Circuit Attorney Rosskopf, declared that Chief of Police Creecy had ignored his brother's appeal for protection.

"How do you know that?" asked Chief of Detectives Smith, who was standing near.

"Because," replied the witness, "after Chief Creecy read the letter he handed it back to my brother and gave no assurance that anything would be done."

George Pitts, a negro janitor in the Four Courts building, testified that Fred Morhle was talking to another man at the southwest corner of the Four Courts corridor, when Kane approached and shot him. According to Pitts, Morhle's right arm was resting against the wall and he was facing the east. Kane, Pitts testified, came through the corridor from the east.

His testimony differed from Hoffman's in that Hoffman said Kane came from near the jail door, which is underneath the big staircase, and that he had to walk around Mohrle in order to get face to face with him. Pitts said that Mohrle could have seen Kane as he walked up.

Hoffman also said that Mohrle seemed to be in the act of throwing something away—a cigarette, perhaps, although he did not see him smoking, while Pitts said that Mohrle was leaning against the wall, supported on his outstretched arm.

When Mrs. Mohrle, widow of the slain man, finished her testimony before the Coroner and retired to the witness room, she was informed that Henry Henning, a saloon keeper at Jefferson avenue and Gamble street, who is on her bond in the sum of $200 in a peace disturbance charge against her, had surrendered her to the police and unless she could get a new bond she would have to go to jail.

Mrs. Mohrle screamed when this was told her. Henry Mohrle, her brother-in-law, calmed her by saying that he would take her to Joe Schuler and the latter would go on her bond.

She was taken away in custody of two policemen to look for a bondsman. Chief of Detectives Smith told her he wished to see her later. Smith denounced the action of Henning.

While Mrs. Mohrle was in the Sheriff's custody and a new bond was being made out she talked freely.

"I expect to take an active part in Kane's prosecution," she said. "I'm not afraid of them. They just learned Sunday where we had moved to on Sullivan avenue. Our number is 2319 and they tried that night to break into 2317. We spent a night of terror.

"Something dreadful was happening all the time. Sunday night they beat up one of my husband's witnesses at the American Laundry stables at Twenty-second and Morgan streets."

FAMOUS ATHLETE QUITS TRAIN TO WED AND CONTINUES TRIP

Martin Delaney, Formerly of St. Louis University, Marries in Belleville.

Martin A. Delaney, former athletic distructor of St. Louis University, later athletic director of the Kansas City Athletic Club, and now holding a similar position with the Chicago Athletic Club, was married in Belleville Tuesday to Miss Jessie Orear of Kansas City. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Arthur Eidman.

Delaney, whose radical methods in athletic training gained for him considerable fame in St. Louis, met Miss Orear in Kansas City two years ago. When she went to visit her sister in Belleville a few weeks ago Delaney wrote to her, telling her that he was on his way to Chicago to take the place at the athletic club there and he wanted her to go with him.

Miss Orear consented and Delaney dropped off in Belleville just long enough to be married and then went on to Chicago with his bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Lawrence Smith. After the marriage there was a wedding breakfast at the Eidman home, to which a few intimate friends and relatives were invited.

Married at 75 to Woman of 60.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Acquaintances of Abraham Kuh, 75, retired member of the wholesale clothing firm of Kuh, Nathan & Fischer, learned yesterday that he married Mrs. Matilda Ellenbogen, 60, two weeks ago.

Restorative Treatment for Nervous Men

Coming from a source of unquestioned authority on the ailments of men it is presumed to be infallible, while the profession generally endorse the ingredients and prescribe them in many different forms of various diseases. The following formula is highly efficient in quickly restoring in nervous exhaustion, melancholia, anxiety, timidity in venturing, dizziness, heart palpitation, trembling limbs, insomnia, thinness, cold extremeties, tired-all-in feeling and general inability to do those natural and rational acts upon which depends a man's success and happiness in social and every-day life.

The instructions for mixing at home secretly so that no embarrassment may be felt, are as follows: First get three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), and mix all together. The directions are to take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, until bounding health and full strength are restored. Even a few weeks will witness most wonderful results.

Astonishing nervous force and equilibrium follow the treatment, no matter how serious the case.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits. * * *

JUDGE LEARNS OF LICENSE AND ANNULS DIVORCE

Woman Obtained Decree Two Weeks Ago, Got Marriage License June 1.

If Mrs. Fannie Meyers and Thomas G. Early, both of Edwardsville, used the St. Louis marriage license which was issued to them June 1, the woman now has two husbands.

Judge B. R. Burroughs of the Madison County Circuit Court annulled Tuesday the divorce which he granted to Mrs. Meyers two weeks ago.

Mrs. Meyers obtained a decree on the ground that her husband, George Meyers, is serving an indeterminate sentence in the Indiana Penitentiary at Jeffersonville, for grand larceny.

The court order decreed that she should not remarry until a year had passed.

When Judge Burroughs learned that the woman had figured in a marriage license, though he did not know whether she had been remarried, he annulled the divorce.

WOMAN TAKES SKIRT "JUST TO WEAR IT" AND IS ARRESTED

Detective Finds Wearer of Friend's Tailor-Made Property at a Summer Garden.

Admitting the theft of a green tailor-made skirt from Miss Matilda Helfrich, her friend, Cora B. Wright, saleswoman, explained that "it was so pretty" she could not resist the temptation to steal.

Miss Helfrich and Miss Wright are employed by a grocery company at Sixth street and Franklin avenue. The skirt was taken from a hook in the women's dressing room Saturday.

Detective Murphy, who was assigned to the case, went to a summer garden Monday night and there found Miss Wright. She was wearing the skirt.

"I would have returned it," said Miss Wright at Police Headquarters before being placed in care of the matron. "I just wanted to wear it."

The skirt is valued at $20. Miss Wright is 29 years old and lives at 522 North Spring avenue.

No Evidence That Naughton Possessed Guilty Knowledge

idea what is to be done, not having given the case a thought."

The Circuit Attorney said that he would take up shortly the case of Ferd Warner with the new grand jury, which was sworn in Monday.

Thomas J. Rowe, who was associated with Hiram N. Moore in the defense of Naughton, said the Supreme Court's decision was a vindication of the principle that no person can be compelled to testify against himself in a criminal cause.

"There wasn't a shade of legal evidence against Naughton," added Attorney Rowe. "The record of the case shows he was convicted without evidence and that he was indicted and tried because he saw fit to exercise a guaranteed constitutional right."

Former Circuit Attorney Sager, who prosecuted Naughton, said he was not at all surprised that the case had been reversed, nor would he have been surprised if it had been affirmed.

"Lawyers," he said, "are prepared to expect anything from the courts higher up. I tried this Naughton case on the evidence I had. We proved that he got the so-called marked money somewhere and turned it over to Sam Weissman, with the request that he keep it for him. We did not prove, and could not, that Naughton knew that the money was bribe money.

"We felt sure of the guilt of Naughton, as charged, though we had no evidence to connect him with Warner and Priesmeyer in the original transaction. The money was given to Warner and was left somewhere over night. Naughton took it to Weissman, who banked it. Where did he get it? We do not know. The jury believed with us and convicted him."

"There is no evidence tending to prove that the defendant had given Priesmeyer or Warner or either of them any aid to avoid arrest, trial, conviction or punishment. Warner and Priesmeyer were arrested less than an hour after Ascher claims to have bribed them; they were indicted, within a few days their case was set for trial and a nolle prosequi entered. There is no evidence in the case that the defendant knew or could have known that Ascher had made a corrupt agreement with Warner and that as part of that agreement he paid Priesmeyer $500. It would have been impossible for him to have known that either Warner or Priesmeyer, on Oct. 19, 1907, was guilty of a felony."

CHURCH TO GIVE BEQUEST TO DISINHERITED DAUGHTER

STERLING, Ill., June 8.—This afternoon the will of the late Jones Baker of Rock Falls was read in the Whiteside County Probate Court. It was found he had willed his personal property and real estate to the Christian Church of that city.

His only daughter, Mrs. Ollie Tompkins, was disinherited by the will. The daughter nursed her father during a year of his sickness and trustees of the church believe that the property by rights belonged to her. They have decided not to accept the property, but to turn it over to her. It was worth about $10,000.

Bucketshop Men Sentenced.

CINCINNATI, June 8.—Louis W. Foster, John M. Gorman, Walter Campbell, A. C. Baldwin, Edwin Heil and J. M. Scott were each sentenced to six months in jail and to pay a fine of $200 and costs in United States District Court this morning for using the mails to defraud in conducting a bucket shop.

MEMBER OF PIONEER ST. LOUIS FAMILY DIES IN MILWAUKEE

Body of William Lucas Will Be Interred in Family Lot in Calvary Cemetery.

William Lucas, 73 years old, member of a pioneer St. Louis family, died suddenly in Milwaukee, Monday night. The news was received by relatives here just at the close of funeral services over the body of his nephew, William Hicks, who died in San Francisco.

Mr. Lucas was a son of the late James H. Lucas and Emilie Desruisseaux Lucas, pioneer settlers. He was born in St. Louis and made a notable success in business.

It is understood that his body will be interred in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery.

Weston Left Rawlins Tuesday.

RAWLINS, Wyo., June 8.—Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, left Rawlins for the West at 5 o'clock this morning. Weston said he was in fine condition. Weston is exactly 280 miles ahead of Sergt. Walsh, who left Denver to overtake the veteran.

WOMAN TARRED AND FEATHERED; ARRESTS FOLLOW

PITTSBURG, June 8.—Taken forcibly from a house in West Pike township, near here, at midnight, by 15 men, Mollie Ridge was stripped of clothing, covered with tar and feathers and thrown into Pike Run, while H. O. Wright, found in the home of the woman, was also stripped, beaten and thrown into the stream.

Wright and the woman later appeared before Justice of the Peace McKean at California, Pa., and filed information against J. F. Charles and Clifford Wright, brothers of Wright, and Charles P. Layford Wright, a cousin, and two others. Warrants were issued and five persons were arrested.

FATHER STEALS BOYS FOR WHOM HE BUYS SUITS

Teddy Roosevelt Hale and Oliver James Hale "looked so dear" in the new clothes which their father bought for them that the latter determined to keep the boys instead of returning them to their mother, from whom he had borrowed them without her leave.

James Hale, the father, a civil war veteran, 62 years old, is now sought by the police on a charge of kidnaping, to which Mrs. Katie Hale, the mother, only 31 years old, threatens to add the charge of wife abandonment.

Mrs. Hale lives with her mother, Mrs. Katie Messenger, at 919 Wyoming street. While she was away from home Saturday morning her husband, from whom she has been separated three years, called at the house, where Teddy Roosevelt, 6 years old, and Oliver James, 8, were playing. They were in charge of their aunt, Mrs. Bessie Adams.

"I think the boys need some new clothes," said Hale.

So Teddy and Ollie were taken away by their father, who had called to see them many times before. They were not returned to their home. Mrs. Hale, when she reached home at night, was not greatly worried at first, supposing that her husband had decided to keep the children out for the evening to show off their new clothes. He was always fond of the boys.

But when the night passed and she received a letter next day from Hale, postmarked East St. Louis, she visited Chief of Police Creecy and asked him to look for her husband and sons.

The letter was from Hale, and it told her this:

"I bought the boys new clothes, and they looked so dear in them that I simply couldn't think of letting them go, so I am going to keep them."

Mrs. Hale thinks her husband may have gone to Danville, Ill., where he is believed to be a district superintendent for a life insurance company. It is possible, she says, that he may have gone to the Soldiers' Home there.

MOTHER, AND TWO CHILDREN KIDNAPED BY THEIR FATHER

A Mighty Ruler, He

Who wisely rules himself.

Curious what a scrap you have now and then (maybe two or three "nows" and several "thens") with what the old Scotchman called the "deevelish part" of your make-up.

It's safe to say "you" and not miss the mark, for we all belong to the same lodge, and it seems to be a part of some great plan to try us and see if we can thus earn the right to rule greater things.

Most every day some one of the many "warriors of the enemy" comes across your pathway and puts up a scrap to see if he can rule.

You must be well trained and alert or he will make you bend the knee or, perhaps, break a leg or permanently cripple you.

There are several of these "enemies" which can be named over, but for the purpose of this article let us speak of the narcotics, the family which includes morphine, whisky, coffee, cocaine, tea, tobacco, etc., all the same family, each member having a different degree of strength.

Now, coffee is perhaps one of the most plausible and deceitful of them all.

It has many friends, but coolly and cunningly knifes them, and they don't know where the blow comes from.

Many and many a poor, nervous wreck with weak heart, suffers by day and lies sleepless at night without suspecting that his "dear old friend," Mr. Coffee, is quietly pushing him along towards the silent city. No, coffee don't hurt everyone by any manner of means, but it does pick out the highly organized individuals and wrecks them by the score.

Perhaps the victim realizes it, but has fallen time and again in the battle and been whipped so often that he has given up and bowed the head to the chain of his master.

"I simply cannot give up my coffee," is the wail, and so day by day he grovels and the master stretches him a few turns tighter on the rack of suffering.

Make sure of one thing. Once you become conscious of the fact that a fight is on, suffering follows steadily until you are able to rule.

Then comes the reward—comfort, health and happiness for the victor.

It is good work to stand right up and smash away with a "mailed fist," but it's much more comfortable to whip Mr. Coffee by throwing him "right over the side of the mountain" and give his place to Postum.

A steaming, fragrant cup of this famous beverage has the clear seal-brown color which changes a rich golden brown under cream.

Oft times, remarkable changes quickly follow the victory of one's better self over a known enemy. Peaceful sleep, balanced nerves, stronger heart, and all the joy which comes after the removal of a drug, and its replacement with natural food elements which old Dame Nature is only too glad to seize upon for the building material so badly needed and so long desired.

Well, here's best wishes to you, reader. Hope you don't get "licked" too often, it's weakening.

MOHRLE KILLING DUE TO OLD TIME POLITICAL FEUD

Clans Formed and Bonds Welded in Days of Kinneys and Haggerties.

"GANG" BEFORE PARTY

Sam Young, Killed by Man Slain at Four Courts, Made Good as Leader.

The killing of "Yellow Kid" Mohrle by "Red Mike" Kane in the Four Courts corridor Monday was the ugly flower of an ugly growth that had its roots in a time when the slayer and victim were in their cradles and in turbulent politics that almost have been forgotten.

In the old days, when the Haggerties and Kinneys dwelt in Collins street and had the seat of their power there, alliances were formed, factions built, political bonds welded that exist yet.

Sam Young was a Kinney henchman, and so is Kane, though while Young lived Kane's immediate political chieftain was his friend Young and Young, in turn, gave his allegiance to the Kinneys.

Kinney Ablest Leader.

Tom Kinney proved the ablest leader his clan ever produced, in the opinion of many who have watched these phases of local politics for several generations. He was ambitious to enlarge the territory in which his power was acknowledged and he turned his eyes toward the Fifteenth Ward, where Andy Gazzolo was boss, and where Cornelius McGillicuddy, known as "Cuddy Mack," was a power.

To overthrow Gazzolo and to strip Cuddy Mack of his political authority, Sam Young was selected by Kinney. And he made good.

Party lines are not drawn very definitely in the Fifteenth Ward. The party is a minor consideration. It is of small importance compared to "the gang" or to personal allegiance to a forceful leader.

Followers Were Loyal.

Young quickly found followers whom he could depend on to execute the behests of the Kinney interests and who stuck to him through "thick and thin." It was not a machine, held together by self-seeking interest. The bond touched a deeper spring of human nature than that, though the natures it touched were rough and crude. It was that chord in men's character called "loyalty."

The gang existed almost from the beginning, though it has been only of late that the name "Egan's Rats" has been applied to one energetic wing of the organization.

Before the final triumph of the Kinney interests there were some stiff fights to be fought, for "Cuddy Mack" and his saloon partner, "Baldy" Ryan, would not surrender without resistance.

Affairs grew exceedingly tense and took on, as was natural considering the force which held the contending factions together, a personal color. Young had been a superintendent of street cleaning. Tom Kinney "ran" him for constable against "Cuddy Mack." That was the crucial struggle—and "Cuddy Mack" went down in defeat.

"Red" Houlihan Killed.

Baldy Ryan killed "Red" Houlihan, one of a Collins street crowd, at Sixth and Morgan streets, one night. That made Ryan a marked man, for already the feudal spirit—the vendetta—the dependence upon bullets and knives, rather than old-fashioned fisticuffs—had percolated into the gangs. And Ryan was shot.

It was not in the Four Courts, but just across the street, and at night. Ryan was shot in the abdomen and the doctors said he couldn't live, but Ryan had some notions of his own about that and recovered.

But these things did not tend to soften or diminish the bitterness between the Kinney and the "Cuddy Mack" factions and the gangs that composed them.

When Sam Young stepped into the constable's office from which he had ousted "Cuddy Mack" and placed his crowd in supremacy, he gave a place to his boyhood chum, Red" Kane. Kane was a born hero worshiper and Sam Young was his ideal. He would have followed Sam Young anywhere, for those who knew both men say the bond between them was one of genuine affection. And Kane—well, he had about all he could ask of life when he was made chief deputy to Constable Sam Young.

Desertion Worst Offense.

There is one offense in the Fifteenth Ward, and in the river wards and wherever the gang plays a part in politics that is not to be forgiven, and that is desertion—going over to the enemy. And in the Fifteenth Ward, where Young was chief, the "enemy" meant Republicans or "Cuddy Mack" or anyone who was not heart and soul for the Kinney interests.

"Yellow" Mohrle went over to the enemy in the form of the Republicans, riding in a carriage in a Republican parade just before the spring primary. Thus he not only "deserted," but he flaunted his desertion openly in the faces of the gang.

He had heard that he would not live to go to the polls and he thought Sam Young meant to kill him, so he killed Sam Young when the deserted chieftain came knocking at the coal yard gate asking for a bottle of beer. Mohrle really thought his life was in danger.

Mohrle Knew the "Gang."

"Red" Kane went back to Constable Mike Kinney's office, his old place, after Young was dead, and Mohrle dwelt in fear of the gang. He not only had deserted, but he had killed the leader, at whose funeral there were more than three hundred carriages and uncounted mourners. And he knew the gang.

But "Red" Kane, who grew up in the gang atmosphere, who was highly educated in its principles of law, had a dearer reason even than that for hating Mohrle and for deciding that Mohrle must die. Mohrle had killed his ("Red" Kane's) hero. All three men—Young, Morhle and Kane—were logical products of the political system of which they had been a part, else Young probably would not have been killed or Kane felt the call for vengeance.

So the latest death is but the latest, grimest flower on the long political stem.

Shootings and Stabbings in Which "Egan's Rats" Figure

CARL LOHRMAN—Shot to death at Sixteenth and Biddle streets 15 years ago by a young member of the gang, who pleaded guilty to the murder on the promise of the gang that they would have him pardoned. He served his term in the penitentiary.

"YATZ" KELLY—Shot to death by Gagel at Third and Biddle streets. Gagel feared the gang, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve 15 years in the penitentiary. He believed that if he took his punishment in that way the gang would forgive him.

GAGEL—A month after his release from the penitentiary Gagel was at the "Jolly Five" Club at Fourteenth and Morgan streets. While he was drinking beer from a can he was shot in the back and killed. Tommy Egan, a deputy constable under Mike Kinney, after whom "Egan's Rats" are called, was charged with the crime by the police, but could not be convicted.

REX McDONALD—The "Jolly Five" Club had split into two factions shortly before the killing of Gagel, and one faction moved to a room at Eleventh and Chestnut streets. While members of the club were drawing up the by-laws of the club the lights were suddenly extinguished and McDonald was shot to death. His murderer was never discovered.

"RED" HOULIHAN—Shot and killed by "Baldy" Ryan. Ryan was not a member of the gang, but an enemy. He and "Cuddy Mack" were about to open a saloon at Sixth and Morgan streets and Ryan was writing invitations to the opening when Houlihan walked in and up the steps. Ryan drew his revolver and shot him dead.

"BALDY" RYAN—Shot in the abdomen and received what was believed to be a mortal wound. He recovered.

EDDIE NICHOLS—Stabbed to death in front of the Liederkranz Hall at Vandeventer and Easton avenues. The police arrested the crowd present at the time, but could not get sufficient evidence to convict the murderer.

EDDIE NOLAN—Shot in the back and killed in Timothy McAuliffe's ("Lefty Mack") saloon at Thirteenth street and Cass avenue on the night of the Folk primaries.

"KID" WILSON—Shot and killed by Tommy Egan while he was talking to Mrs. Nellie Egan. Egan saw a chance to plead the "unwritten law." There were no eye-witnesses to the murder and Egan was not convicted.

JOHN McAULIFFE, known as "Guinea Mack"—Shot to death while riding in a buggy at Broadway, between Wash and Carr streets. No conviction for the murder.

"DUTCH LOUIS" FINGERLIN—Shot in the back and killed in a saloon at Eleventh and Chestnut streets.

FRED E. SCHEEL—A law student from Belleville was coming out of the law school at Fifteenth and Locust streets, on registration day, in the fall of 1904, when he was run into by members of the "Egan Rats" gang chasing Oliver Beck, an election judge, at whom they were firing. A bullet entered Scheel's heart, killing him instantly. The murder was laid upon "Red" Grebe, who was under sentence of five years for highway robbery, his sentence having been affirmed by the Supreme Court. He was hustled to the Union Station in a carriage by Mike Kinney and turned over to an officer and taken to the penitentiary to serve his sentence before he could be arraigned for the murder. He is now in the penitentiary.

WILLIAM WOODS—Killed by Jere Reardon in a saloon at Sixteenth street and Franklin avenue. Reardon was acquitted.

SAM YOUNG—Shot and killed by Fred ("Yellow Kid") Mohrle.

"YELLOW KID" MOHRLE—Shot and killed in the corridor of the Four Courts by "Red Mike" Kane.

HARRIMAN DECLARES REPORTS OF SICKNESS ARE NONSENSE

Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co.

LONDON, June 8.—Edward H. Harriman, who arrived on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm at Plymouth, was visited by the Post-Dispatch correspondent, who informed him that it had been cabled to New York and back again that he was ill throughout the voyage.

"Nonsense," replied Mr. Harriman, rather petulantly. "We had a fine trip. For the first time in my life, in a voyage, I was ill for the first few hours, but I feel all the better for it."

He looks very well, and plainly is glad that he has put the Atlantic between himself and his railroads.

"I am much better than I was a year ago," he went on cheerfully, "but it goes without saying that I'm not as young as I used to be."

He added that Mrs. Harriman and his secretary, Alexander Millar, enjoyed the trip.

"Millar's rheumatism is better already," laughed the railroad builder. "As I told your brethren of the American newspapers, I am making this trip chiefly for Millar's sake."

Mr. Harriman is going to Paris, where he will make a brief stay. He will visit James Stillman, formerly president of the National City Bank.

Harriman Reaches Paris.

PARIS, June 8.—E. H. Harriman arrived here today from London.

FOREST FIRES NEAR POWDER MAGAZINE OF LUMBER PLANT

McCLOUD, Cal., June 8.—A forest fire is sweeping toward the big plant of the McCloud company early this morning and a gang of 50 men has been sent out on a lumber train with water tanks to attempt to check the flames. The fire is within half a mile of the powder magazine.

A guard placed at the powder house to protect it from the striking employes of the company is back-firing in the direction of the approaching wall of fire. Residents of the town are preparing to flee.

FREDERICTON, N. B., June 8.—Forest fires which swept over more than 100 square miles in Western New Brunswick are practically under control. It is estimated that 50 square miles of excellent timber land have been fire swept.

ST. JOHN, N. B., June 8.—The central portion of the province is ablaze with forest fires. Thousands of acres of valuable timber have been destroyed.

COBALT, Ont., June 8.—All Saturday and Sunday fierce fires raged in the Gillies limit. Up to the Montreal River and around Gow Ganda there are big fires.

PROOF IN THE MORNING!

We tell you about how good you'll feel after taking a CASCARET—that millions of people—buy, use and recommend them—But that's talk—you buy a box now—take as directed tonight—and get the proof in the morning—After you know CASCARETS you'll never be without them. 913

CASCARETS 10c a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

Decatur Man Disappears.

Howard F. Lodge, 31, of Decatur, Ill., came to St. Louis June 3 to be treated for nervousness and disappeared. His brothers, F. B. Lodge of 922 North Main street, Decatur, has written the police here to look for him. He is 6 feet tall.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

CORONER'S JURY CHARGES WIFE KNEW OF KILLING OF HUSBAND

Declares Poison Given by Parties Unknown, but "With Full Knowledge of Wife."

RICH HILL, Mo., June 8.—The Coroner's jury in the Burgess poisoning case returned a verdict as follows:

"We, the jury, find by the evidence that Frank Burgess came to his death by strychnine poisoning administered by parties unknown, though in our belief with the full knowledge of his wife, Gussie Burgess."

Mrs. Burgess' preliminary hearing will be held next Thursday.

Must Die for Killing Mother.

NORWICH, N. Y., June 8.—Gov. Hughes has refused to interfere in the case of William Scott of this village, sentenced to be electrocuted at Auburn prison in the week beginning June 14 for the murder of his mother, Mrs. Delia Scott, in 1907.

CALLAHAN, BREATHITT FEUD CHIEF, HAS CHANCE FOR LIFE

Several Men Are Suspected of Shooting—Bloodhounds Are on Assassin's Trail.

JACKSON, Ky., June 8.—The latest reports from Crockettsville this morning are that Ed Callahan, who was shot yesterday morning, has a good prospect of recovery. Dr. Nash is of the opinion that the bullet did not penetrate the abdominal cavity.

The bloodhounds were taken to the scene of the shooting late yesterday afternoon and seemed to follow a warm trail up to Long's Creek. They took up the trail again this morning.

There is no definite information as to who did the shooting, though suspicion hangs over several different persons. Should Callahan die, a special grand jury will at once be empaneled to investigate. Everyone who might chance to know anything in regard to the shooting is very averse to talking about it and it is difficult to learn anything definite.

PILES, FISTULA, FISSURE CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE

Mr. T. H. Davison of Du Quoin, Ill., was cured in two weeks. His letter is a fair sample of hundreds I have on file from former grateful patients. Those afflicted should not delay treatment, but should investigate my treatment, methods and reliability by writing to Mr. Davison, and as many of my former patients as they wish. Send for my free book for men, and my free book for women. They contain hundreds of just such letters as Mr. Davison's. Is it not fair, businesslike and reasonable for you to conclude that, if I cured so many, I can cure you!

LIEDERKRANZ NIGHT AT COLISEUM

Ellery's Band, Closing Engagement, Praise Acoustics at Hall.

Thursday night will be Liederkranz night at the Coliseum, where Ellery's band will play.

This is the closing week of the Ellery engagement, which has given a series of notable concerts. The engagement of this company of musicians has afforded additional proof that the acoustics of the new Coliseum are excellent. The players express themselves as highly pleased.

ABANDONS $12,120 IN DIAMONDS

Mexican Departs Leaving Jewelry Not Declared for Duty.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Celso del Villar, a Mexican, held up by the customs authorities shortly after his arrival here, April 24, and from whom customs officers took a diamond collar and bracelet valued at $12,120 he had not declared for duty, has left the United States.

He had been paroled in custody of the Mexican Consul for further examination. The customs authorities are satisfied with possession of the diamonds, which will be sold.

THOUGHT DEAD, DRAWS PENSION

Soldier Had Been Mourned by Wife for 43 Years.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 8.—Applying for a pension after she had mourned her husband as dead for 43 years, Mrs. Annie Edwards, 71 years old, received word from Washington that her husband is alive and is himself drawing a pension.

A few years after the close of the war Edwards, then living in Camden with his wife, went to sea. He wrote to her for a few months and then his letters ceased. When she failed to get any trace of her husband she concluded that he had been killed and recently filed a widow's pension application.

CHURCH OFFICIALS IN SESSION

Pastors and lay delegates from all the Congregational churches of St. Louis are attending the forty-fifth annual meeting of the Missouri Congregational Association, which began its business sessions Tuesday at Springfield.

The association will adjourn Wednesday afternoon, and most of the visitors will remain over Thursday for the inauguration of the Rev. Dr. J. H. George as president of Drury College, and for the college commencement.

MARY GARDEN DENIES THAT HAIR DYE HURT HER EYES

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, June 8.—Miss Mary Garden's eyes were never more attractive nor brilliant nor foreseeing than when the Post-Dispatch correspondent visited her today. The report cabled to New York that the prima donna's eyesight has been hurt by the dyes with which she lent added color to her hair is easily disproved.

"The story is a fiction," said Miss Garden, lightly stroking her hair. "As for being blind, 'stuff!' I could have passed that unanswered, but a 'woman's crowning beauty,' my hair, forces me to answer."

Miss Garden has been out everywhere with vision untroubled. She did not appear in opera here as advertised, but everybody familiar with Paris knew that the reason was that she had that prosaic malady, rheumatism, in her shoulders, which made acting too painful. Except for the slight attack of rheumatism Miss Garden is perfectly well. She will sail for New York next November.

Requiring the fraternal beneficiary associations to make annual report of their affairs and operations to the State Superintendent of Insurance.

Providing that the legal custodians of ballots or ballot boxes may be brought before a grand jury or court of record and compelled to open ballot boxes and disclose the ballots in investigations and trials, provided that the ballots in no way are used to show who voted any ballot.

Authorizing cities of 350,000 population to select as a depository either a bank or trust company, first requiring a bond of $500,000, and when the deposits shall equal or exceed $500,000 to require an additional bond of $500,000.

Repealing section 4263, Revised Statutes of 1899. Making the manufacture, printing, publishing, buying, selling, advertising or distribution of obscene books, pictures or pamphlets punishable by fine of $50 to $1000 or one year's imprisonment in a county jail.

Providing that the wife of a man or the husband of a woman under guardianship may join with the guardian in making partition of real estate.

House Bills He Signed.

House bills signed by the Governor today are those:

Abolishing the Court of Common Pleas in Otterville.

Providing that when two or more ballots are folded together they shall be considered as fradulent and be rejected. If two or more have corresponding numbers they shall only be counted where it is obvious that this was a mistake and that the ballots are legal and proper; otherwise they shall be rejected.

Permitting the drainage of land for agricultural purposes.

Fixing the salaries of police officers in St. Joseph.

Requiring applicants for license to practice embalming to have first embalmed ten dead human bodies.

Relating to swamp and overflow lands.

Providing that every sale of grain, hay, seed or coal shall be made on the basis of the actual weight thereof.

Providing that no license to sell intoxicants shall be granted during the time for which notice of a local option election is being published.

No Liquor in Passenger Cars.

Making it unlawful to enter a passenger car in an intoxicated condition or to drink or display intoxicants in such car (dining cars and cafe cars are exempt).

Prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to persons under 18, and making it unlawful, punishable by fine of $10, for persons over 10 and under 18 to smoke cigarettes in any public road, street, alley, park or other public place.

People Can Extend City Limits.

Authorizing the third-class cities to extend or diminish their limits by consent of the legal voters.

Requiring railroad companies to stop trains at grade crossings of other railroads.

Making the term of county assessors four years.

Requiring railroad companies whose rights-of-way join, or whose tracks are within 100 yards of each other, to connect their tracks so as to receive and interchange cars.

Relating to the restraint of animals from running at large.

Authorizing county courts to employ an auditor to audit the accounts of county officers.

Repealing Sections 132 to 136, inclusive, Article 7, Chapter 1, Revised Statutes of 1899.

Prohibiting the sale of notes given in payment of premium on life insurance policy before the actual delivery of the policy to the insured.

NEW HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINER HAS ROUGH TRIP TO NEW YORK

Sister Ship to Cleveland Has All Modern Luxuries—Dark Rooms for Photographers.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Co.'s new liner, the Cincinnati, arrived here Sunday on her maiden voyage after a rough trip upon which the passengers enjoyed only two fine days. She is a sister ship to the Cleveland, which recently arrived here on her first voyage.

She is 18,000 tons register and a little over 600 feet long. She has four decks and accommodates 230 first-class passengers and 2054 second and third class passengers. She has a number of cabins arranged for single passengers who do not wish to share staterooms with strangers. She has twin screws and can maintain a speed of 17 knots an hour.

A novelty is a set of dark rooms in which amateur photographers may develop their pictures taken en route. She is also equipped with a complete gymnasium and all the modern comforts now expected on a first-class steamship in the trans-Atlantic trade.

Knew Its Office.

Once upon a time a child, who was asked on an examination paper to define a mountain range, replied: "A large-sized cook stove." The same method of reasoning seems to go with older growth. A recent examination paper at the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale contained the question, "What is the office of the gastric juice?" And the answer on one paper said: "The stomach."

Can't Scare Him.

Pausing in his labors the gravedigger refreshed himself with a nip from a black bottle. At that moment the minister passed by.

"Your action causes me pain," expostulated the minister. "Are you not afraid you will fill a drunkard's grave?"

The gravedigger smacked his lips twice, replaced the bottle in his hip pocket, and replied:

"There is nothing to be afraid of, sir. I ought to know. I've filled many a one."

RUPTURE

Over 150,000 Cases Successfully Fitted at Seeley's Establishments in Philadelphia, Chicago and London, Eng.—The Noted Truss Expert Now at the Planters Hotel.

"Rupture is not a tear or breach in the abdominal wall, as commonly supposed, but is the stretching or dilation of a natural opening," said F. H. Seeley, the Chicago expert, now stopping at the Planters Hotel for the next few days.

"With the 'special field' truss we retain any case of hernia at once, and close the opening in ten days on the average case."

This instrument received the highest award at the International Medical Congress in London, England, and is now used and approved by the U. S. Govt.

Mr. Seeley, having been previously called here within late years, has over 400 local references. He will be pleased to meet all former patrons, as well as any interested persons calling, and will be glad to show truss without charge, or fit them, if desired.—ADV.

A Great Sale of Summer Dresses

Wednesday's offering—another demonstration of our pre-eminence in value giving—of our ability to sell apparel of the "Garland" high standard of style and exclusiveness—at prices that are really lower than others ask for the ordinary, commonplace garments.

In directing attention to the two Dresses shown in sketch, we want you to take no notice of the price until you have thoroughly inspected and studied the style, the beautiful lines and the quality of the material—then pay no attention to anything we say, but be your own judge as to the price and relative value of each.

But this much we will tell you, they come to us from a maker of high-class cloth garments, who determined to embark in the summer dress line, and in order to get his styles before the women of St. Louis in the most effective way made us up 150 of each style at the cost of material alone, which is less than half the cost of the finished dress.

An exact Reproduction of the 2 Dresses to be sold tomorrow at $4.98 and $14.50

$10 Dresses for $4.98

The style at left is of fine lingerie cloth, sheer mull and batiste, in white and pink only, trimmed in fine lace, pin-tucked panel and sleeves, deep lace inserted flounce. We also include a beautiful model in allover English eyelet embroidery, in white only, in all sizes.

$30 Dresses for $14.50

This is the style at right of sketch; made of finest French lingerie cloth and sheer mull, in the light shades and white, trimmed and inserted with French Val. lace; front and back panel of English eyelet embroidery, in both high collar (as in sketch) or in Dutch neck; in all sizes.

If you are interested in either of these two specials, come early tomorrow. They should all be sold before the day is half gone.

$10, $12.50 and $15 Linen Dresses . . $5.98

This is a great assortment, including pure Irish linen and French rep, in all the new colors, also fine corded and swivel madras, French ginghams and batiste, in a variety of colored stripes, figures and shepherd checks and plaids; trimming effects are lace, braid, buttons and loops; some with embroidery, others in braid dyed to match dress; they come in high neck and the new Salome collar with tie. This is a wonderful assortment, from which anyone can in a few minutes make a selection; Dresses that are worth in the regular way $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00; choice Wednesday................ $5.98

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

Notice of Stockholders' Meeting.

To the stockholders of the Nevada and Minden Railway Company:

In conformity with the requirements of the constitutions and laws of the States of Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, and the by-laws of the company, YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED that by resolution of the Board of Directors of The Nevada and Minden Railway Company, duly adopted at a meeting of the said Board on the 29th day of May, A. D. 1909, a meeting of the stockholders of The Nevada and Minden Railway Company has been called to be held at the office of the company, room 706 Missouri Pacific Building, in the city of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, on the 6th day of August, A. D. 1909, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon.

(1) For the purpose of considering a contract and articles of consolidation bearing date the 29th day of May, 1909, heretofore made and entered into by and on behalf of The Nevada and Minden Railway Company and the following named corporations, by order of their respective boards of directors:

THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, a consolidated corporation of the states of Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska;

THE KANSAS AND COLORADO PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, a consolidated corporation of the State of Kansas;

THE CENTRAL BRANCH RAILWAY COMPANY, a consolidated corporation of the State of Kansas;

THE ROOKS COUNTY RAILROAD COMPANY, a corporation of the State of Kansas;

BARGAINS to MAKE FAST SELLING.

July
Butterick patterns and Delineator now on sale at pattern counter.

We have carefully and deliberately prepared these extraordinary values in an effort to surpass the tremendous volume of business done by this store on the corresponding Wednesday one year ago, and to thereby maintain the gratifying percentage of increase over last year which our 1909 sales sheets thus far show.

This sale is the real thing---not a few low prices here and there, but a broad, consistent effort, affecting the entire store from one end to the other. These special one-day bargains set a pace that cannot fail to win your enthusiastic and abundant patronage.

"The Taste Lingers"
Popular Pkg. 10c; Large Family size 15c.

Well, sir, we made one very big hit when we published our new proposition, offering to send a selection of suits to any man's home to be compared with suits sent out from other stores. Men accepted it in the proper spirit---men who said they admired a house which had the courage of its convictions and was "willing to back up its claims with the goods." We figure this way:--That if our clothes are as good as we say they are, they ought to sell themselves without the assistance of a salesman. All we wanted was an honest comparison of our suits with those of other houses. And the only way to get at the truth of the matter was to send the goods to the home, where merit would have to win or lose the argument. Now, then, we will send out any suits you select, on this same basis. If we lose out we will grin and bear it. But you can rest assured we never would have volunteered such an offer if we didn't know that our goods are far superior to all others, and that no expert is required to point the fact out to our customers.

We are now selling $20 suits for $12.75; and $25 suits for $17; and $30 suits for $19.50; and $35 suits for $24; and $40 suits for $29; also $45 suits for $29.

BORN WITH ONLY THREE LEGS, PUP IS HEALTHY AND FRISKY

There Is No Scar on Body of Animal, Which Is Now Two Months Old.

Born with only three legs, but with the health and appetite of a normal canine, a puppy owned by Frank Hartmann, who lives at 107 Highland avenue, just beyond the southern limit of the city, has been the cynosure of many curious eyes during the two months of its existence.

There is no scar on the dog's body, and the shoulder from which a leg did not protrude seems normal. It is active and has a big appetite. Its mother is a full-blooded Spitz and the male parent is a cross between a shepherd and a Scotch terrier.

The queer animal is about eight inches long and four inches high, and is coal black.

CARRIAGE ACCIDENT KILLS GIRL

Relatives Keep News of Accident Secret Five Days.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Miss Margaret Walker, a Pittsburg society girl, is dead; Miss Clara Hart, daughter of Reginald Hart of Wayne, is badly injured, and H. M. Wendell and O. B. Stanton are suffering from shock and general contusions from a carriage smashup which happened last Wednesday evening at Wayne. The victims and their families withheld news of the accident until yesterday, when it was made known at the Coroner's inquest.

While driving, it is said, Miss Walker pulled on the reins, the horse swerved to the right, hit a tree, the carriage was upset and the occupants were thrown out. Miss Walker complained of a severe pain in her head, but was able to walk. She went to bed and the next morning died. She was 18 years of age and attractive. She returned recently from Paris, where she had been studying art.

FOUR WOMEN IN AUTO DROWN

KNIGHT'S LANDING, Cal., June 8.—Four women were drowned last night in the Sacramento River when an automobile in which they were riding toppled into the river when the driver lost control of his machine.

The dead:

Mrs. W. F. Mixon, wife of the editor of the Woodland Mail.

Mrs. J. H. Dungan, wife of the Postmaster at Woodland.

Miss Meryl Dungan, daughter of Mrs. Dungan.

Miss Julia Dungan, her sister-in-law.

James Armstrong, the driver, also of Woodland, was thrown into the water, but escaped.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

WOOD ALCOHOL PROVES FATAL

Woman Said She Had Been Hungry After Separation From Husband.

Mrs. Bertha Reisenleiter, 28 years old, who drank a bottle of wood alcohol in front of 1922 Arlington avenue, died Monday night at the City Hospital. Her 4-year-old daughter Helen is at the hospital ignorant of the fact that her mother is dead.

In a statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter several hours before her death Mrs. Reisenleiter said that since her separation from her husband she had been living with her child at 3019 Easton avenue. She said that her money had run out and Sunday night she was so hungry she did not care to live longer. She tried to make the child drink the poison, but failed.

NO REASON FOR DOUBT.

When we offer to return the money paid us if our claims do not prove true we must know exactly what we are talking about when we say Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will relieve scalp irritation, dandruff and falling hair, and prevent baldness. Don't scoff, doubt or hesitate. Try the remedy at our risk. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., 6th and Washington. The Rexall Store.

FUNSTON SHOOTS AT BURGLAR

Engages in Revolver Duel With Intruder in His Quarters.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 8.—Brigadier-General Frederick Funston, Commandant of the Army Service School at Fort Leavenworth, engaged in a revolver fight with a supposed burglar in his quarters early today. The man escaped. Gen. Funston was unharmed.

Gen. Funston retired late and remained awake. An hour later a closet door opened and a man stepped forth. The General reached for a revolver. The intruder fired and the bullet pierced the mattress. The General leaped to his feet and fired three shots as the man fled.

BACON ACCEPTS FRENCH POST

Former Secretary of State Will Succeed Ambassador White.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Robert Bacon, who was Secretary of State for two months last winter, has accepted the post of Ambassador to France. The place was offered to him some time ago at the request of Senator Root, and added pressure was brought through the friendship of former President Roosevelt for Mr. Bacon, who was the best player, if not the most prominent member of the tennis cabinet.

Mr. Bacon did not decline the appointment, as has been reported. He has indicated to the State Department and the White House that he will take the place. He will succeed Henry M. White, at present Ambassador to France, about the first of next year. Mr. White will leave the service.

GOVERNMENT IS CLOSE ON TRAIL OF SMUGGLERS

Employe of Morgan's Steamship Trust Watched by Agents of Treasury.

RICH WOMEN INVOLVED

Officials Anxious to Make an Example of Some Traveler of Wealth.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 8.—In its hunt for the managers of the "underground express," by which hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of Paris finery have been smuggled into New York annually, the Government, it is learned, is hot on the trail of an employe in Paris of the International Mercantile Marine Co., the transatlantic steamship trust controlled by J. Pierpont Morgan.

This man holds a responsible position in the company. He is said to have worked out the scheme by which "sleepers," or left-over trunks, after being shipped to this country, were slipped past the customs men. For each "sleeper" trunk the fee to the smuggling combine was $500.

Practically all the important smuggling of this kind has been done on the steamers of the American Line and the Red Star Line, both of which are subsidiaries of the International Mercantile Marine.

Special treasry agents of the Government, in Paris, have been on the trail of this man ever since the seizure 10 weeks ago of the five trunks containing $52,000 worth of Paris gowns, which are now being sold at auction in the custom house.

Jobs Depend on Success.

The special agents, who get large pay and liberal allowances for expenses, have been made to understand by their superiors in Washington that unless they uncovered the Paris end of the smuggling combination they would lose their jobs.

Some of the cablegrams have pointed out that a large number of tourists, particularly travelers of large means, seemed to know the men to approach to get valuables into this country, duty free.

Offered $260,000 to Settle.

Collector Loeb has not yet been able to learn the identity of the men or women behind the chain of lawyers who offered to pay $260,000 in full settlement of all the claims of the Government growing out of the seizure of the five trunks.

Some of the gowns in the trunks have been withdrawn from the auction sales. These particular gowns are marked with different sets of initials and are supposedly the property of wealthy and fashionable women.

They are being kept in the Government's possession to be used as evidence against their owners in event of criminal prosecutions, which are expected to follow if the special agents in Paris make further headway in the case.

Importer Arrested.

Martin Labe, the importer of Oriental goods, arrested Saturday night, was arraigned yesterday and released under $5000 bond for examination next Monday.

Labe is charged with making a fraudulent entry by means of false invoices of silks and other materials valued at 3993 francs and imported from France to Philadelphia in October, 1907. The customs officials at this port did not work up the case against Labe.

Wealthy Woman Involved.

All the evidence concerning the seizure of a trunk owned by Mrs. Matilda Chesbrough, wife of a wealthy steamship man of Boston, who arrived here on May 28 on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, has been turned over by the customs men to United States District Attorney Wise.

Mrs. Chesbrough, it is alleged, had in her baggage a trunk with a false bottom, which hid about $3000 worth of furs and other valuables.

Loeb Reorganizing Service.

In his work of reorganizing the customs, Collector Loeb is said to have used Secret Service men to get their information of a personal character concerning inspectors, examiners and others.

These investigations have shown, in some instances, it is said, that men drawing comparatively small salaries have been living on a generous scale.

One man with a salary of $2500 lived at a fashionable hotel, kept an automobile and figured rather conspicuously in the life along the Great White Way. His manner of living, it is said, took at least $15,000 a year.

JOHN D. SPRECKELS DEFENDS BROTHER'S FIGHT ON GRAFT

Says Patriotism Inspired Activity in Prosecutions in San Francisco.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Although John D. Spreckels of San Francisco has not been on good terms with his brother, Rudolph, for years, he paid a remarkable tribute to him in an interview last night, when he said Rudolph's fight against "Abe" Ruef, President Calhoun of the United Railway Co., and the grafters involved in the recent trials, was inspired solely by his patriotic interest in San Francisco.

"Rudolph had practically retired from business," said John D. Spreckels, "when Calhoun asked for the trolley franchise on Pacific avenue, Rudolph opposed trolley poles and as a good citizen tried to get a franchise for an underground surface system. But Calhoun got his franchise.

"Rudolph employed detectives and the result was the sensational exposures which startled the country."

LARGEST CORN MILL BURNS

Fireman Killed When Decatur Cereal Co. Plant Is Destroyed.

DECATUR, Ill., June 8.—The plant of the Decatur Cereal Co., the largest corn mill in the world, burned last night. Loss $650,000. Insurance $165,000. The mill was built two years ago and had a capacity of 20,000 bushels of corn daily. It made grits used in brewing beer and other corn products.

John Sheehy, a fireman, was killed by falling timber. It is not known how the fire started, but it was first discovered in the top of the elevator, 125 feet from the ground, and the water pressure was insufficient to reach it.

RAILROADS WIN THREE-CENT FARE FIGHT IN COURT

Highest Tribunal in State Restrains Judge Williams From Hearing Cases.

NO APPEAL POSSIBLE

Eighteen Missouri Lines Can Now Return to Old Passenger Rate.

JONES WILL NOT "QUIT"

Circuit Attorney Declares the Carriers Have Not Got Away Yet.

The State Supreme Court at Jefferson City Tuesday issued a permanent injunction against Judge Williams of the St. Louis Circuit Court, according to telegrams to the Post-Dispatch restraining him hearing cases against 18 railroad companies charged by Circuit Attorney Jones with violation of the Missouri anti-trust laws by entering into an agreement or conspiracy to restore the 3-cents-a-mile passenger rate.

Circuit Attorney Jones was enjoined from prosecuting these cases by Judge Smith McPherson of the Federal Court at Kansas City. An appeal from Judge McPherson's decision has been taken, but no appeal is possible from the decision of the Missouri Supreem Court forbidding Judge Williams to try the cases.

Circuit Attorney Jones told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the decision of the Supreme Court would end the specific cases against the railroads in Judge Williams' court.

"You may say for me, however, that the railroads have not got away yet," said Mr. Jones. "All that I care to say now is tha tif the railroads were prosecuted every time they violate the laws the courts of St. Louis would have no time to hear any other cases."

Rate Restored by Some.

Mr. Jones would not say whether he had an yother suits in mind. The conspiracy cases were filed in the Circuit Court here after the railroad officials had held two meetings, one in Chicago and the other in St. Louis, and agreed to restore the 3-cent rate.

The railroads took this action after Judge Smith McPherson handed down a decision declaring the 2-cent law unconstitutional because, as the Cou rtheld, it was confiscatory.

Following Judge McPherson's decision the State officials announced that an appeal would be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, and Attorney-General Major is now preparing the brief and will be ready to file it within a month.

The State officials understood that Judge McPherson's decision prohibited them from enforcing the 2-cent rate, but they contended that the antitrust laws had been violated when the railroad officials met and agreed upon rates. At the direction of Gov. Hadley, Mr. Jones instituted injunction proceedings in the Circuit Court and procured a temporary restraining order against 18 railroads.

Roads Asked for Writ.

The railroads contended that Circuit Attorney Jones was in contempt of the Federal Court for filing the suit, and brought the matter to the attention of Judge McPherson, who issued an injunction against him. In the meantime the railroads had applied for a writ of prohibition against Judge Williams.

After Judge Williams granted the temporary injunction the Burlington and Frisco systems adopted a scale of 2½ cents a mile, and the cases against them were dropped. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad Co. restored the 3-cent fare, while the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain, Wabash and other Gould lines are retaining the 2-cent rate, pending a final determination of the case in the Federal Supreme Court.

Attorney-General Major's quo warranto suit against 15 railroads for entering into an alleged illegal agreement to restore rates is still on the dockets of the Supreme Court of Missouri. Judge McPherson has refused to issue an injunction against Attorney-General Major to prohibit him from prosecuting these cases.

The quo warranto suit and the appeal from Judge McPherson's decision are now the only remaining cases in the celebrated rate warfare in Missouri.

Doctors Watching Itching Scalps Heal

(From Chicago Inter-Ocean.)

Eczema on the head and scalp, and dandruff, will soon cease to afflict mankind, according to Dr. Aloysius M. Churchill, who is in Chicago attending the convention.

"Any person can apply my treatment anywhere just as well as I do in the Franco-American Institute for Scalp Diseases," said he Tuesday.

"Get from your druggist two ounces of quintone, dissolve it in ½ pint hot water, let cool, and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. That is all there is to it. Two or three application usually accomplish the desired re'ult.

"Of 98 cases treated 95 were com'etely cured and treatment was bene'ial for the other 3.

"The formation of dandruff causes itching scalp. Scratching with the gers spreads infection; therefore, intone can be used with good results a preventative by anybody whose alp is itching or forming dandruff. It the best thing I know to promote he growth of hair." * * *

"I have known men to pick u p a liberal education reading while waiting for their wives to dress to go out with them."—Chauncey M. Depew.

WHILE you're waiting for your wife to finish dressing,
Do not fuss and fume and fidget, fight and fret;
Why, the waiting, waiting, waiting is a blessing,
For a liberal education you can get.

WHILE she's putting on her shirtwaist, get your Homer—
You can read the tale of Helen and of Troy;
While she's pinning on her collar, take your Omar
And the pessimistic Rubayiat enjoy.

WHEN, O glory! while her hat is being righted
You can read the whole of
Shelly's and of Poe;
All the learning that in giddy wouth
you slighted
You can get while she is dressing,

ITALIAN AUTO GOES IN DITCH AT LITCHFIELD

Only Foreign-Made Machine in Ocean-to-Ocean Race Loses Wheel.

The Itala, the only European-made car in the ocean-to-ocean contest for the M. Robert Guggenheim gold cup, went into a ditch 16 miles west of Litchfield at 2 a. m. Tuesday. One of the wheels was broken off and the two drivers, Elbert Bellows and F. B. Whittemore, came to St. Louis to get repairs.

The Itala left Chicago for St. Louis at 4:30 a. m. Monday, and would have arrived here early Tuesday morning but for the accident. Just after leaving Litchfield the car got stuck in a mudhole, and the drivers had to work two hours to get it out.

They were then coming on to St. Louis at a lively clip, when, at the foot of a steep incline, the car was ditched. The drivers were not hurt.

They are waiting in St. Louis for repairs from New York. As soon as they arrive, the two chauffeurs will return to the machine, restore the broken part and continue their journey.

Prior to the accident, the Itala was 12 hours behind the Acme, the fourth car in the race, which left St. Louis for Kansas City at 10:05 p. m. Monday. The Fords, which arrived in St. Louis at 6:55 a. m. Monday, departed at 8:10 p. m.

The Itala, after getting to St. Louis, will be required, under the rules, to stay here 12 hours. Bellows and Whitemore said that if the repairs get here from New York Tuesday morning, the automobile will be brought to the city promptly, but if the repairs do not arrive it may be tied up for two or three days.

Bellows and Whittemore are manning the machine alone, since the third driver was stricken with dipththeria in Chicago. They hoped to receive word here that another driver might be substituted for the sick man, but were disappointed.

Unless the other contestants consent to the substitution the two drivers will have to continue to the coast alone and without guides. They are not discouraged because they are now so far behind the leaders.

Get Out of Bed to See Autos.

MONTGOMERY, Mo., June 8.—The cross-the-continent autos passed through Montgomery this morning at 3:50. Six machines in a bunch were fighting for the lead. Many persons got out in their night clothing to see the race. The roads and weather were ideal and the autos were making about fifty miles per hour.

STOLE TO PROLONG HONEYMOON

LONDON, June 8.—William Hulme pleaded guilty and was bound over at Blackpool for stealing a diamond ring, and it was explained that he committed the theft in order that his girl bride might be able to prolong the honeymoon at Blackpool.

An attorney explained that Hulme, who was 20 years old, had been "kept in leading strings" by his father, but a few weeks ago he "broke all bounds" and got married.

BODY OF DR. SPIEGELHALTER, WAR VETERAN, TO BE CREMATED

The funeral of Dr. Joseph Spiegelhalter, 75 years old, a Civil War veteran and, since the close of the war, a prominent St. Louis physician, will take place from his home, 2166 Lafayette avenue, to the Missouri Crematorium, of which he was president, at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

MRS. ANNIS COOL IN FACING BIG AUDIENCE IN VAUDEVILLE

NEW YORK, June 8.—Mrs. William B. Annis, for the killing of whose husband Capt. Peter J. Hains is serving a sentence at Sing Sing, faced a big and curious audience in the Victoria Theater yesterday afternoon when she appeared for the first time on Broadway as a vaudeville entertainer. Though her stage experience has lasted only one week she seemed undisturbed.

Before her act was announced a report spread that she soon would be married. When the question was put to her there was no change in her poise, but there was positiveness in her reply.

"Mr. Annis has not been dead a year, and I am still in mourning," she said. "I shall probably be married some time, but any discussion of it now is out of the question."

Mrs. Annis' fiance is said to be a real estate broker.

To Children:

Isn't it glorious that there is one great soda fountain drink with a spotless reputation? HIRES is healthful. It's a drink—not a drug. In the language of a famous President, "It's simply bully."

The dreadful things which are being offered to the children of the country from soda fountains have stirred another famous Washington investigator to activity.

Before the American Philosophical Society, the other day, he stated that the existence of cocaine and caffeine, as well as cocoa leaf extract, was shown in drinks dispensed at the soda fountains of every city in the country.

"This problem," he said "of the use of these habit-forming drugs by the school children, the young girls who get a 'soft drink,' as millions of them do, is, in my opinion, one which will soon be regarded as no less serious than the alcohol question."

This is not the soda fountain man's fault. He doesn't put the drug in—it is done before it comes to him. He wants to give you the best he can.

It is a comfort to mothers and fathers—to everybody—to know that the soda fountain man can give you one summer and winter drink which is pure and health-producing, besides being a delicious, inviting drink.

The best he can possibly give you is Hires. Remember the name—and when you want Hires, say Hires.

It is made from the purest vegetable products of nature—those that aid your digestion, act as a tonic and cool your blood. There is not the trace of a drug—it is healthful all through.

The "Hires Habit" is due only to the fact that the healthful effects and the tempting taste of this great drink are well-nigh irresistible.

State of Missouri, }
City of St. Louis, } ss.

Personally appeared before me, a Notary Public, in and for the City of St. Louis, Mo., W. C. Steigers, Business Manager of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who deposes and says that the regular editions of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for the first four months of the year 1909, after deducting all copies left over unsold, spoiled in printing and unaccounted for:

Averaged Daily	167,541
Averaged Sunday	272,707
Averaged Daily and Sunday Combined	182,131
Full and Complete Papers
Average Daily Gain of	4,735
Average Sunday Gain of	8,466

Over the corresponding period of 1908; and further, that the sales of the Post-Dispatch in the City of St. Louis exceed by many thousands the number of homes in St. Louis.

HEARING FROM THE COUNTRY.

The most sensible remark credited to President Taft concerning the work of tariff revision is that if there is no real revision downward now the country will instruct congressmen, Democratic and Republican, who are elected next year, to undertake another revision. Sham revision will mean another tariff campaign. When the Payne bill was sent to the Senate the Post-Dispatch warned Congress that farcical revision would be the worst possible business, because it would be the signal for another agitation which would again unsettle business conditions.

It is evident that Mr. Taft has his ear to the ground. He is said to have told his friends that he would veto the Aldrich bill unless it is greatly modified in conference. He will insist that there be a genuine revision downward, such a revision as will satisfy the expectations of the Western Republicans and convince the country that the Republican party is faithful to its revision promises.

The President realizes, his friends say, that the triumph of Aldrichism will mean a political revolution which will defeat the Republicans in the next congressional elections and will endanger his own re-election.

This is the best news that has come out of Washington since the meeting of Congress. It indicates that Mr. Taft, at least, has some political sagacity and realizes the force of public sentiment against the conspiracy of graft and grab, led by Payne in the House and Aldrich in the Senate. The President can force a genuine revision downward. His leadership would greatly strengthen the reform forces in Congress and would bring the standpatters to terms. The responsibility will rest with him. He is President. He, not Aldrich, is the chosen leader of his party. The country looks to him to outline and sustain its policy. Has he the courage and the strength to throttle the interests and compel them to surrender?

WALL STREET'S IMPATIENCE.

With customary impatience the stock market is going for the high places. It is the speculator's way to discount the future both as a means of asserting his own confidence and inviting that of what he calls the investing public.

Conditions may warrant this new outburst of confidence in Wall street and it may be a mere demonstration calculated, if not designed, to influence the business world and tariff action.

But Wall street habitually "rides to a fall" and prudent men will continue to consider crops a better barometer than the betting value of securities. The tendency to overextend speculative values is generally harmful and the speculators have already discounted the tariff settlement. But the tariff is so far from settled that the passage of the Aldrich bill would be only a beginning.

"SO FLEET THE WORKS OF MAN."

Henceforth there can be no doubt as to the quality, durability and devotion of the wonderful old street cars run by the United Railways. The "one-hoss shay" was the model for their integrity and they were built with all the cunning craftsmanship that distinguished the honest old artisans who wrought with their hands such things as modern machinery cannot produce.

It was in demonstration of this heritage of durability that one of these splendid old cars—a grandfather among its kind—perhaps in resentment of a cruel blow dealt by a rebuilt but not new fellow, collapsed and distintegrated completely. What a master work it was—that noble old car! The storm and stress of a century showed only on its weathered sides. Travel over a million miles of billowy track had not decreased the dignity of its appearance. Transferred to other lines in emergencies, its sea-going qualities had withstood the rigors of the Tower Grove division; its homing proclivities were proved on the spring route, and its domesticity was tried by Sunday trips into the thirsty county. But to Jefferson avenue it was faithful to the end. To the clamors of that route its wheels were attuned; to the accustomed bumps its springs responded and its motors hummed in unison with the seething life of which it was a part.

But the end came, and it was such an end as a faithful old car deserves. Busy to the last, laden with human freightage, scornful of the impending and the inevitable, it scoffed at an accident which would send it to the shop for repairs. It fell to pieces. It crumbled instantly into shapeless, inconglomerate debris wherein only the expert eye could tell what had been window frame from what had been drawhead, or journal from transom. Let its dust be gathered and placed in an urn in the prehistorical museum.

THE GANGS AND THE POLICE.

St. Louis has again been reduced to the class of Breathitt County, Kentucky. Here as well as there the feud flourishes. Fred H. Mohrle is its latest victim. When a Breathitt County feudist "gets" a victim, shooting him in the back from ambush, we smile in a superior way and consider that eventually civilization will assert itself even in the high mountains. When a St. Louis feudist shoots his victim—in the back—from the ambush of a pillar by the stairway which leads upward from the halls where the courts administer justice, we consider the manner in which the police conduct themselves.

This is it.

"There will be no repetition of this affair," said Chief of Police Creecy. "I will take steps to prevent such an occurrence in the future."

But everyone knew what did occur was going to occur. Since April 9 last it has been common knowledge that Mohrle was in continuous danger. Still he was shot and killed in the shadow of the courtroom where he was to be tried for shooting and killing a man who, he believed, was about to kill him. Mohrle's counsel warned him not to leave the courtroom. Mohrle's wife had voiced her expectancy of being widowed. Mohrle's alleged accomplice had for a month been distracted with fear.

"Hereafter," continued the Chief of Police, "when any member of any of these alleged gangs is on trial, or when there is any case in the Four Courts in which any of them are involved, I shall keep the corridor clear of all gang members."

This promise is the more creditable because to carry it out involves acquaintance with the gang members. Chief Creecy knows them.

"Also," he said, "I shall see that every witness who is a gangster is searched for weapons before he gets into court."

This is also a creditable promise, but why will the gangsters be searched only before they go into court.

The gangsters are practically outlaws. They are known to the police. They habitually go armed. The law provides penalties for carrying concealed weapons. The rest should be easy.

The police can break up the "gangs" in ten days and have every member in prison in six weeks if they care to. Are we to wait for peace until the gangs are self-exterminated or will that desired end be attained by enforcement of the law?

The speedy trial of the gang member who killed at the entrance of the temple of justice would be the smallest contribution to the peace and dignity of "the" State.

Shaw's Garden last Sunday gave one of its semi-annual exhibitions to show that it should be opened every Sunday in the year. More than 25,000 persons entered the gates, the crowd most of the time being so great that seeing the collections of flowers and plants was well-nigh impossible. Does anyone argue that these 25,000 were doing anything harmful by visiting the Botanical garden?

BUILD THE BRIDGE.

If the wise men who are suggesting many desirable things that might be done with the $3,500,000 bridge money instead of building the municipal bridge will tell how any of them can be accomplished we would have greater respect for their advice. The money cannot be used to lease the Eads Bridge without another charter amendment. The purchase of the tunnel for a subway would require authorization.

What assurance would there be after the abandonment of the free bridge project and the authorizing of the lease of the Eads Bridge and the tunnel that the railroads would come to terms? What would be gained but a roadway on an abandoned railroad bridge? The whole scheme is vague and far-fetched with a final accomplishment far in the future. Its adoption would mean beginning over again.

But the municipal bridge is a concrete project already authorized and provided for. We know that the agitation for it and the authorizing of its construction have been powerful influences in gaining concessions from the railroads. We are assured that a completed bridge will be a more powerful influence in eliminating all the oppressions of monopoly. We know that the city will have a bridge in the most desirable location for a railroad bridge, which can be used as a potent lever to control the bridge situation. No bridge monopoly can withstand the competitive effect of a free municipal bridge. We may through the municipal bridge make the Eads roadway free. We may bring about the elimination of all special bridge and terminal charges.

Build the bridge, the possibilities of which far overtop the objections to it. Then utilize it to the best advantage

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Teachers Not All Alike.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I also read "Mother's" letter, but I cannot say that it amused me, as "Father" said. I am a student of one of the St. Louis high schools and I would like to say that all old teachers are not alike, for which we are all very thankful. There are some of them who look upon the whole race of children as their natural enemies, and treat us accordingly. Then there is another kind; they give us such beautiful examples of thoughtfulness, unselfishness and patience that they have won the love and respect of the entire school. But in regard to the other class which I first mentioned, I agree with "Mother;" they surely ought to be pensioned. I think that anyone who takes up teaching as their occupation should have no aversion to children. I would say to both "Father" and "Mother" that you can't judge them all by a few.

STUDENT.

The City's Dead Remembered.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While riding past the city graveyard on last Monday I noticed that someone had decorated the graves with several hundred flags. I have not seen any credit or even seen it mentioned in any of the papers, and as very few ever pass this point I think it deserves credit or acknowledgement.

CONSTANT READER.

Uncollected Taxes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see in tonight's paper where Mayor Kreismann has appointed a member of the House of Delegates, Mr. Holliday of the Twenty-eighth Ward, to introduce a bill to authorize the employment of an attorney to collect the costs due the city from litigants in the justice courts, carrying with it an appropriation of $2000. Now then, why don't Mayor Kreismann hire an attorney, or make the city officials do their duty and collect that million and a quarter that is due the city, and has been passed upon by the highest court in the land, the United States Supreme Court? JOHN C. MORRIS.

Centennial Celebration Fund.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It is with deep regret that I notice the meager contributions of the Retail Furniture Dealers of this city towards defraying the expenses of the "Centennial" celebration, which is to take place this fall. Upon going over the list I note that there is only one contribution commensurate or in keeping with the business represented, and that was given by a small merchant who is located entirely out of the downtown district, and based upon the amount given by him it strikes me that the larger houses would feel very much humiliated by the amount given by them. The celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of the city of St. Louis, as contemplated by its promoters, is to be on a grand scale and every citizen of St. Louis should co-operate to the fullest extent, in order to have it favorably commented upon by the entire United States. With the help given by the houses in question, it will be impossible for the men who are so generously lending their time and money to accomplish much. The retail furniture interests should have contributed not less than from $1000 to $1500 in support of the coming festivities, and I am very much chagrined to think that the business in which I am engaged is not far-seeing enough to respond generously. It certainly shows a lack of public spirit and civic pride. Make your contribution commensurate with the size of your business. Our donation towards the Centennial celebration is $150. Make yours the same or better, those of you who can afford to do so, and I know there are a number of you who are in a position to make the same contribution or larger. The executive committee will require it in order to make the celebration a success.

Cheap Living.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see in last night's Post-Dispatch a piece written by Nellie Duling Gans "How to Live on 50 Cents a Day." I would like to know where she can get 20 pounds of sugar for $1; tea, one pound, 24 cents; coffee, 12 cents per pound; macaroni, one pound, 5 cents; rice, 4½ cents; hamburger steak at 8 cents a pound; potatoes, 25 cents a peck, and crackers at 6 cents a pound? I don't care to incur a doctor's bill by buying stale cheese at 5 cents a pound and tainted meat which cannot be fresh at such prices as "mutton stew three pounds, 10 cents." I am considered a very economizing woman. I buy 15-cent coffee which is as cheap as I can drink, buy oleomargarine and stale bread whenever it can be bought. I don't buy bananas or any fruit at all. I would like to see the bananas she can buy at 5 cents a dozen. My husband also eats dinner, which she does not mention; or does she think he can spend 10 cents car fare to come home and eat as I don't think there would be much left from supper to have anything for lunch next morning. The idea of six carrots for a meal, one can of milk a week and the rest is too foolish to mention, as we eat and don't live off of wind, and what money we might save give it to the doctor. I talk from nine years' experience and not just to hear my head roar, and I think I will have more on my side than on hers.

Teamsters' Troubles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In reply to the letter on "Troubles of Teamsters," I am glad to hear of someone that has common sense. You cannot kill a weed in the garden by cutting the top; you must get at the root. I wonder if humane officers when they have a driver arrested for overloading a team think of the trouble and hard labor he has to load and unload that wagon. He does not do it for pleasure, but must do as he is told. If he don't he must quit. If some of the humane officers would follow a teamster in his day's work, they may change their views as to what he must put up with from 14 to 16 hours a day of work and trouble to earn his daily bread.

A TEAMSTER.

BAD DEBTS.

From Puck.

Credit is the beginning of progress, prosperity, and bad debts, but especially of bad debts. Front implies foolishness, and bad debts are the fruitage.

Bad debts are an exception to the law whereby cold contracts and heat expands. They are contracted or expended simultaneously, and in all seasons alike.

Bad debts are eventually paid by good people. They are the inheritance tax which the meek have to pony up before coming into their own, for the earth falls to no man until he has been cheated out of at least three times as much as it is worth, in proof of his humility.

Bad debts have brought motoring within the reach of the masses, not to mention the lesser blessings of peace and plenty, with nothing to give up for these but the fanciful comfort of a clear conscience.

HER PROPOSAL.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

"You've been courting me now for a number of years, George," remarked a girl to a young man, "and I want to make a little proposal."

"I—I am not in a position to m-marry just yet," stammered the youth; "but"—

"Who said anything about marriage?" interrupted the girl. "I was going to propose that you stop coming here and give somebody else a chance."

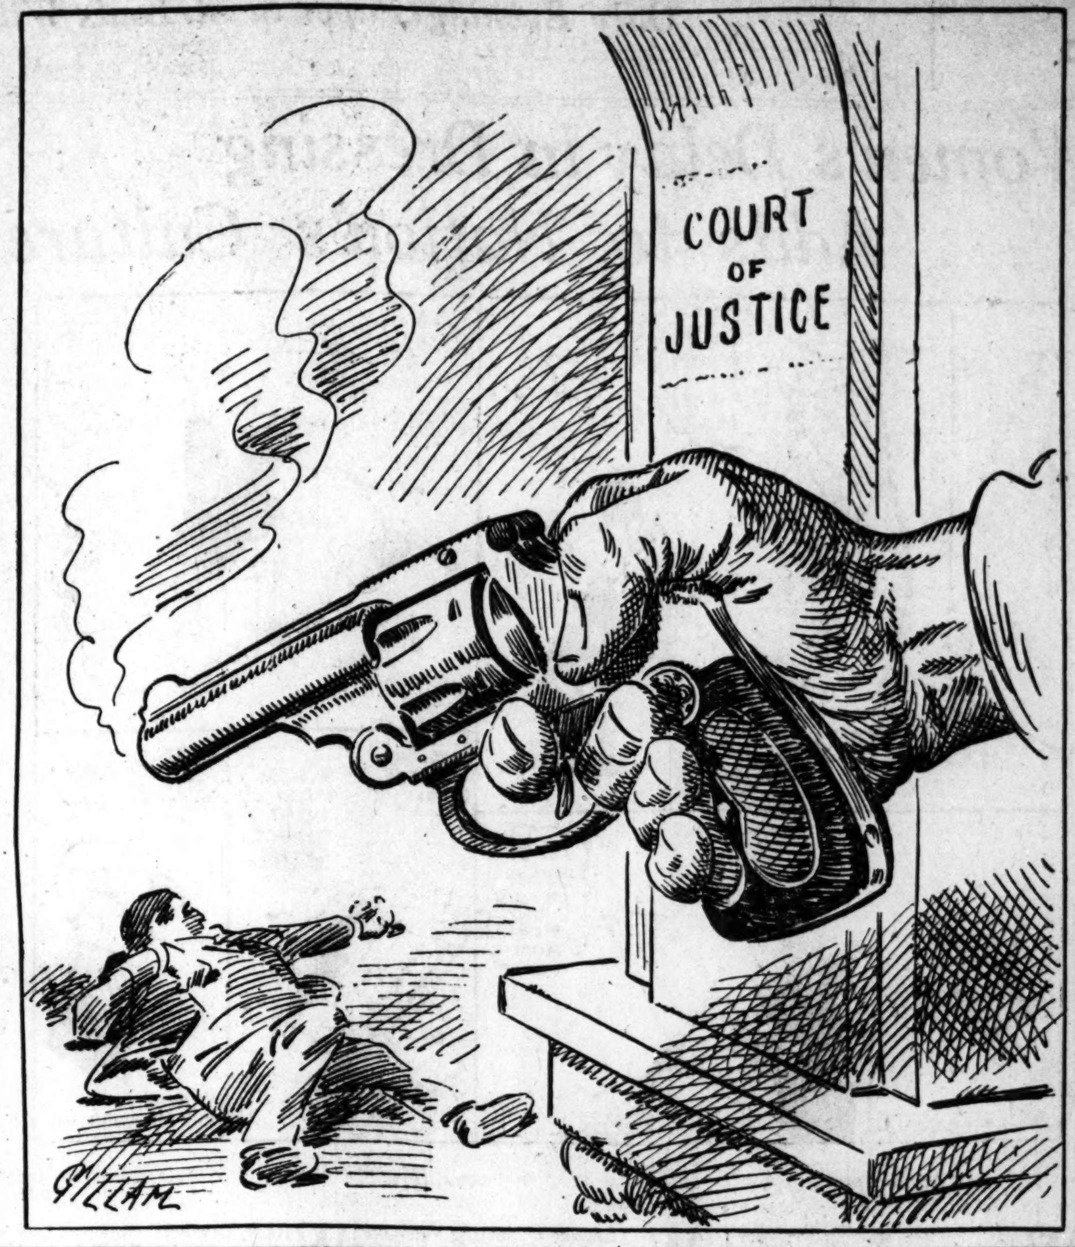
GANG LAW.



GOOD INDIANS (NOT DEAD).

From the Indian's Friend.

More than 1300 Indians are regular employes in the Government service.

Alex Tall Chief, an educated Osage Indian and a Carlisle graduate, is compiling a dictionary of the Osage language.

Jacob Bunn, an Indian, 100 years old, died on the Lawrence estate at Bay Shore, L. I., on May 4. He had been in the service of the late Frank Lawrence for 60 years. "Old Jake" was a full-blooded Shinnecock Indian, and often said he could have been chief of his tribe had he been willing to give up his good berth. He left 10 sons, one daughter and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

"IN GOD WE TRUST" ONE CENT.

From Leslie's Weekly.

"In God We Trust" is to appear on the new Lincoln cents, which are expected to be issued before August next from the mints at Philadelphia, San Francisco and Denver, where all our pennies are coined. Heretofore the American penny has never borne the head of an American, and Lincoln has very properly been chosen to be honored first of all. The restoration of the popular and expressive legend, "In God We Trust," is due to the action of President Taft, and we honor him for it.

DICTATORS.

From Life.

Once in awhile there appears the man who touches the popular imagination, and becomes a dictator. Often it's a bit of a mystery how he turns the trick, but all the same nothing will stop him.

Being just doesn't always help. Aristides tried that and lost out. Nor does it necessarily put a man out of the running to be a colossal bore, as witness Cromwell. Some people object to being slaughtered and otherwise messed up, but Rome had a taste for that sort of thing, hence Marius and Sulla.

CHASING HIS FARM.

From the Salina (Kan.) Journal.

A Finney County man was out in the country the other day when he met up with a farmer hauling a wheat drill back of his wagon. A terrific Kansas wind was ripping across the prairie. "What are you doing with that drill?" he asked the farmer.

"Trying to catch up with my farm," was the reply as the farmer clucked up his horses.

THE VALUE OF THE CROWN.

From the London Times.

The dominant fact of the last reign is this—that, by example of an honest life in the highest place, by the exercise of a steady and stable influence upon the development of the politics of the country, domestic and foreign, and by simply going on for all those years in this unwavering course, Queen Victoria taught the country and the empire the immense value of the Crown.

IMPRESSED.

From the Washington Star.

"So Baron Fucash has made another proposal for your daughter's hand?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox.

"What do you think of him?"

"Well, I don't know but what he'd be valuable in the family. The way he discussed settlements sounded like he had the making of a pretty good business man."

MAKE IT SEVENTY.

From the New York World.

Some one has suggested that all women be allowed to vote when they reach the age of 40. Such a regulation would at once settle the suffragette question for all unmarried women. They never attain that age.

FANCY AND FACT.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

I like to sit and dream in spring of jays and robbins on the wing, of bees that hum and vines that cling, but when I commence my wife hunts up a lot of chores and makes me paint the kitchen doors, and beat the rugs and wax the floors, and kalsomine the fence.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

IN THE SENATE.

THE most facetious of all the insurgents arose: Mr. President, while we are on the wool schedule, I want to say a word for a deserving industry which has no representation here.

Mr. La Follette: If the gentleman refers to a trust, I can assure him that they are all ably represented here.

Mr. Dolliver: Palpably, we might say.

Mr. Cummins: Yes, or damnably. (Laughter.)

The facetious one protested: The gentleman from Wisconsin misunderstood me: I said a deserving industry.

Mr. Nelson: Deserving what?

Mr. Beveridge: Hanging, perhaps. (Applause by non-renegade Democrat.)

The speaker was positively shocked: Gentlemen! Gen-n-n-tlemen! I have yet to hold a brief for a trust (thumping himself on chest) or to befriend any industry deserving to be hanged. (Applause from gallery.)

He bowed: Mr. President, I want to say a word for the Navajo Indians. This is as poetic an Indian as we have left in our country. I am not blind, and cannot tell you how numerous he is, but the gentleman from Oklahoma will tell us.

Mr. Gore: Certainly. Seventeen thousand, two hundred and forty-one. (Applause.)

He again bowed: Now, Mr. President, practically all of these 17,241 Navajo Indians are engaged in the making of wool blankets. (Applause by both the non-renegade Democrats.) Thank you. (Bows.) Yes, Mr. President. It is really a great industry among them. I am still enjoying my eyesight, and therefore cannot give you the statistics, but the gentleman from Oklahoma, whose mind is not confused by the news from Africa, the House proceedings and the great mass of rot which the rest of us read day and night, will probably be pleased to supply them. (Laughter, the gentlemen from Oklahoma participating heartily.)

Mr. Gore: Delighted. The Navajo Indians have produced blankets in the last five years, viz: 1908, $387,026.04; 1907, $356,127; 1906, $338,519.43; 1905, $300,016.07; 1904, $289,954.83. (Prolonged applause.)

The facetious one curtsied: Thanks to the gentleman from Oklahoma. Mr. President, while we are giving more protection to the nabob in his castle and more wealth to the money king in his counting room (applause), what is the matter with turning the struggle for life down there on the Painted Desert once for all in favor of the Navajo Indian? (Tumult by Republican insurgents and non-renegade Democrats.) We are now taxing imported rugs to about 45 per cent of their value. Just a minute: I have a cinder in my eye, and I think I can give you the exact figures. (Laughter.) Yes; oriental and other rugs are paying 40 per cent ad valorem and 10 cents a square foot. (Applause.) Now, Mr. President, if we increased——

Mr. Aldrich: I want to ask the gentlemen if these war-whoops he is talking about consume anything.

The Facetious One: Yes, they are consumers of——

Mr. Aldrich: Then, Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The Chair: The point is sustained. (Applause by the non-renegade Republicans and renegade Democrats.)

NO USE.

The shade of the Emperor Justinian was watching posterity burn all the fiction.

"What's the idea?" it asked.

"A fresh start," they explained.

For a shade, it laughed with a good deal of mirth.

"Who are you?" they asked, not a little embarrassed.

"I?" it said. "O, I'm only the man who one time burned all the laws."

Out in the Hills.

Mayor Hurt of Armstrong drew up the other day one of the queerest contracts we ever heard of. Two neighbors fell out over a partition fence. One of them owed the other $8. The farmer owing the $8 agreed to pay it provided his neighbor signed a contract to the effect that he will never again speak to him. Both parties agreed to the terms of the contract and asked Mayor Hurt to draw the formal contract for their signatures.—Cass County (Mo.) Leader.

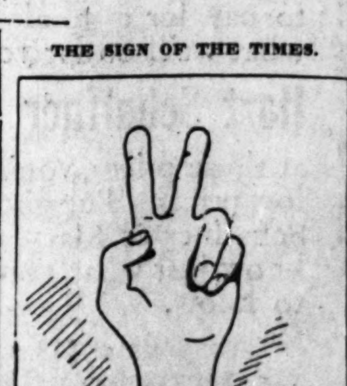
Passwords for June: Coming, salutatory; going, valedictory.

THE SIGN OF THE TIMES.



Mr. Gerhardt offers to give $10,000 to charity if anyone can prove that he has ulterior motives in his fight for the Free Bridge. Would it not be a good idea, Mr. Gerhardt, to make the bridge fund the beneficiary of all such wagers? Somebody may make a rash one.

Judging from the manner in which they were fired on, the prohibition states must have suspected that the balloons from Indianapolis were smuggling liquor into the dry belt.

The cigarette moral is not pronounced in the shooting at the Four Courts, but it is there. It usually is.

U. S. A.—Paint stain: Equal parts of ammonia and turpentine; saturate two or three times, then wash out in soap suds.

READER.—Get in communication with teachers of the public schools in regard to summer teaching "to make up lost time."

J. W.—Liquid stove polish: Bone black, 2½ parts; pulverized graphite, 2½ parts; copperas, 5 parts; sufficient water to form a creamy paste.

A. C. F. B.—Some reader may be sufficiently familiar with "Picnic Sam" to tell you where it is to be found and by whom it was written.

ANNA.—We know of no money paid to Weston or any bets on his performance; nor do we know anything of an automobile having followed him.

G. W.—In Missouri and Illinois and Kentucky open accounts upon which nothing has been paid are dead in five years. In Kentucky, accounts between merchants, two years.

XYZ.—To find four square parts of a circle: Draw the diameter of the circle, and with each end of the diameter as a center with a radius greater than ½ the diameter draw two intersecting archs, then draw a line through the points of intersection.

A.—If wife die without making a will, and leave real and personal property, husband and child surviving, widower is entitled to life estate in realty and the share of a child absolutely (new section law 1901) in the personal. If no children, wife must will property, both real and personal, to her husband, if she wishes that he shall receive the entire estate.

NANCY.—Birthdays March 21 to April 19, sign of Aries. Aries people are usually executive; go against all oppositon; generous, magnetic, progressive, bright, witty and great talkers; intuitive; unforgiving; love order, beauty and elegant surroundings; male will never back out of a fight; writers, novelists, poets; not patient, except with those they love; give too much to lazy people; faults are selfishness, anger, impetuosity; whimsical, capricious, fickle; female is jealous.

SUNFLOWER.—To restore blue dress color: Wash carefully, then place in basin of water containing oxalic acid, one teaspoon dissolved acid to half gallon water. Leave in the water until color is restored, which will be about one-half hour, perhaps. As this acid will rot goods, the garment should be thoroughly rinsed to remove every particle of acid. An iron rust on blue material can be removed with this acid, making no change in the goods.

EMMA.—Stewed beef kidneys: Cut kidneys in halves remove all fat and cover with cold water. Set at side of range and bring very slowly to boiling point. As soon as this is reached pour off water, put on more cold and bring again to simmering point. Pour this off, cover again with water and again drain. Slice kidneys, cover with cold water, bring to boil and cook gently five minutes. Keep kidneys hot while you thicken the liquor with brown flour, rubbed smooth with a little butter. Return kidneys to this gravy, season to taste with salt, pepper, two tablespoons mushrooms, a little Worcestershire sauce, dash of lemon juice and small quantity of sherry. Serve very hot. Boiling in several waters is tedious, but eliminates the strong taste peculiar to kidneys not properly prepared.

W. P. AND E. K.—Gunpowder is made of niter, charcoal and sulphur. The ingredients are pulverized separately, and intimately mingled with water (sometimes distilled water) by means and in proportions which vary in different countries and factories—about 75 per cent of potassium nitrate, the remaining 25 per cent being divided between charcoal and sulphur. In the United States the mixed materials are subjected to great pressure, forming a solid cake; this is broken into fragments and the grains are separated by sieves. They are sometimes glazed with graphite. The finest grains, which burn quickly, are used for small arms; the largest, sometimes 1¼ inches in diameter, for cannon and mortars. French powder is easily crushed between the fingers, and the grains used for cannon are but little larger than ordinary musket powder. For muzzle-loading cannon, the powder is enveloped in woolen cloth. After each discharge the cannon is sponged, lest fire on the residue of the cloth should cause premature explosion. Doremus' compressed granulated powder is used without an envelope; 1000 charges have been fired with it without sponging. The United States charges are reduced to two-thirds of their ordinary length by hydraulic pressure, the French to one quarter. Progressive charges are made of several cartridges; the slowest to burn are most compressed and nearest the breech of the gun.

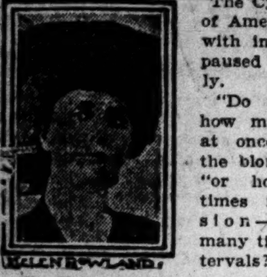
PARNELL.—An invention to revive dry battery cells applies to exterior of cell a casing carrying a dry electrolyte which, upon application of moisture, sets up a chemical action with the exterior zinc surface of the cell and, the latter being perforated, causes electrical action to be again produced. The casing or cup consists of an external waterproof casing and an internal absorbent lining. A sheet of the absorbent paper of proper size, to form a cylinder of desired diameter, is impregnated with a solution containing ten parts muriate of ammonia, four parts bichromate of potash and ten parts chloride of sodium. This sheet is then dried, preferably by passing it between rollers which serve to incorporate the chemicals firmly and to extrude the excess of water, and is wrapped around a wooden cylinder of appropriate diameter. It is then coated externally with a water-proofing paste. Around this is then wrapped a coating of manila paper, the end of the cup being formed by placing a disk of similar paper at the end of the cylinder in the inside and folding the sheet of manila paper over it. The usual external casing of paper is next removed from cell and the zinc surface cleaned. After wiping off surface zinc is perforated in a number of places with small sharp instrument and the coal tar in top of cell is removed by tapping around the edge with hammer. The cell is then placed within the prepared cup and the top is filled with clean rain water. Chemical action will immediately be produced between the outer surface of the zinc and the electrolyte contained in the porous lining of the cup and the terminals of the cell will show practically the same voltage as it did when new. By replenishing the water, say once a month, the life of the cell can be prolonged.

THE CYNICS' CLUB

Discovers That Man's Love Is Like Neapolitan Ice Cream.

Reported for the Post-Dispatch.

By HELEN ROWLAND.



HELEN ROWLAND.

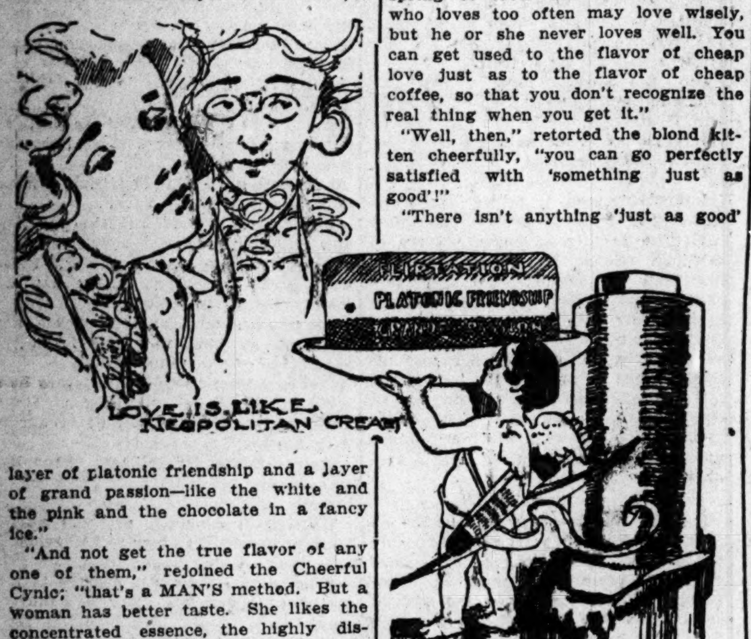
"How many times can a woman love?" inquired the Cheerful Cynic.

The Cynics' Club of America sat up with interest and paused reflectively.

"Do you mean how many times at once?" asked the blonde kitten, "or how many times in succession—or how many times at intervals?"

"It all depends," remarked the sarcastic member, ignoring the blonde kitten severely, "on how many interesting men you meet."

"And if you meet several of them at the same time," rejoined the kitten, tossing her chin rebelliously, "you can mix your loves just—just like Neapolitan ice cream—a layer of flirtation, a layer of platonic friendship and a layer of grand passion—like the white and the pink and the chocolate in a fancy ice."



"And not get the true flavor of any one of them," rejoined the Cheerful Cynic; "that's a MAN'S method. But a woman has better taste. She likes the concentrated essence, the highly distilled extract, of anything from soda water to love."

"And that's why it always goes to her head and leaves her with a bad taste in her mouth and sentimental indigestion," returned the blonde kitten triumphantly. "She overdoes everything because she concentrates on it too violently. When she sets her heart and her mind on one man, she doesn't even see any of the others. But a man can admire a blonde while he is flirting with a brunette and thinking about a red-headed woman. One love relieves the monotony of the other, just as a taste of the chocolate in a Neapolitan ice keeps you from tiring of the vanila and sickening of the strawberry. Flirting with one woman doesn't make a man forget another; it piques his interest in her and puts him in a mood to appreciate her all the more. Dancing with a butterfly on Monday night doesn't make him anxious to dance with her on Tuesday night. It inspires him with a keen desire to talk to somebody more intellectual, and this in turn awakens a yearning interest in somebody sentimental, and this in somebody frivolous, until he gets all the way around to the butterfly again—and is glad to return to her."

"Yes," sighed the Cheerful Cynic, "I suppose variety is good for your sentimental system, just as a change of diet is for your physical health."

"Of course," argued the blond kitten cheerfully. "One dish or one woman, day in and day out, soon palls on any man and makes him lose his appetite. A man is no more to blame for tiring of too much girl than he is for tiring of too much beefsteak or of a steady diet on fried potatoes. He is born a varietist and he can't help following his natural inclinations."

"Even though they lead him all around the social circle," rejoined the sarcastic member bitterly. "And I suppose, Kitty, if you loved a man, for instance, you wouldn't mind his piquing his interest in you by sandwiching his love for you in between a flirtation with a brunette chorus girl and a red-headed widow."

"What!" cried the blonde kitten, indignantly.

"Well," retorted the sarcastic member, "we've all got to choose one man and one sentimental diet sooner or later."

"But a man," put in the Cheerful Cynic, "can sandwich his wife in between his club and his business; and a woman can sandwich her marital affection in between her children and her social ambitions."

"But how are you going to tell the real love from the imitations?" demanded the blonde kitten, "when they're all so much alike?"

"Oh, you'll know it when it comes to you," declared the Cheerful Cynic, reassuringly.

"And if you don't recognize it then," announced the sarcastic member, bitterly, "you will when it has gone—provided you haven't spoiled your taste for it by trying too many imitations."

"What!"

"Too many flames," explained the sarcastic member, "dry up the wellspring of love. The man or woman who loves too often may love wisely, but he or she never loves well. You can get used to the flavor of cheap love just as to the flavor of cheap coffee, so that you don't recognize the real thing when you get it."

"Well, then," retorted the blond kitten cheerfully, "you can go perfectly satisfied with 'something just as good'!"

"There isn't anything 'just as good' as real love!" declared the Cheerful Cynic. And the Cynic's Club chorused its approval in a dozen gentle sighs.

HOUSEKEEPER'S.

Might Have Been Worse.

A WORKER at Hull House, who is what she herself calls an "unappropriated blessing," finds much that is amusing in the point of view of many married women toward spinsters.

One afternoon Mrs. Donovan appeared at the settlement house meeting in her best clothes and an aggressive air. One was almost closed, one side of her face horribly disfigured.

"Why, Mrs. Donovan, what has happened?" cried the worker; then realizing that her question might embarrass the woman, hastened to add, "Well, never mind, it might have been worse."

"Sure, an' it might," responded the matron. "I might never have been married at all."

A Truth Lover.

Minister: Do you love truth, my little man?

Tommy (doubtfully): Well, I dun'no—I hate awfully to get caught in a lie!

Making It Worth While.

A man walking along the streets was surprised to see an Irishman poking a dollar bill through a crack in the sidewalk and asked why he was doing it.

"Why, ye see, sir, a minute ago I dhropped a nickel through this crack an' now Oi'm puttin' a dollar through so's to make it worth me while to pull up the walk an' get the nickel. D'ye see?"

His Reason.

A man applied at the factory for a job. Among other questions the foreman asked him why he had left his last place. "Well," he replied, "they asked me to please leave, and I didn't like to refuse them."

"The splendid first line of national defense commanded by Kitchener was crushed and shattered to fragments in its first battle with the Prussians constituting the First Army Corps of German invasion. It was not a rout---it was annihilation."

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTER.

Germany declares war against England the day after Count Zeppelin's successful 900-mile flight in his airship, "Zeppelin II." A fleet of Zeppelin aerial battleships destroy the First Battle Squadron of the Home Fleet of England. The First Army Corps of the German army of invasion is landed on English soil.

CHAPTER SECOND.

"The Prussians at the Gates of London."

A DEADENING dismay reigned alike at the British Admiralty Office and the Army Council in London, both hastily convened in the early hours of the morning that dawned upon a German army of invasion already occupying English home territory.

On the London streets outside, even as this session began, great crowds of white-faced men and women were assembled. They were not noisy, these crowds, nor was there any mob-anger because of England's crushing defeat by Germany on the sea. A pathetic, wistful sort of stillness prevailed.

They were awaiting news of England's plan of defense, these English thousands—news that would outline in some form a plan of effective retaliation, of manful blow for blow, that should restore the national spirit of pride in England.

And what a problem this, for those upon whom the crowds waited!

Into conference with the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty had been summoned Lord Charles Beresford, he of the "Fighting Beresfords," who in his junior days had won the immortal flag-signal commendation, "Well done, Condor!" from the commander of the English fleet bombarding Alexandria. Jaw-gripped he went into the momentous consultation, a dauntless pluck leaping forth from his level eyes.

Similarly, to the Army Council, hurried the two great field marshals of England, the twin embodiment of Britain's hope in time of war-stress, grim Earl Roberts, whose soldiers called him "Bobs," and Viscount Wolseley, fighter of England's battles for half a century. Also the somber Kitchener of Khartoum, still an English General on the active list, who, more than any other man, realized the militant decadence of England. They were needed, these men—England was in her direst straits.

But a benumbing shadow overhung them all.

It was the ominous shadow of the Zeppelin aerial battleship, the new and dreadful war machine against which England had no means of defense.

Found unprepared, as is her wont, Britain confronted this irresistible engine of destruction with eyes of awe.

Not with terror-stricken eyes—no nation of earth has ever seen fear in English eyes. But many have seen there, as Germany now saw, the startled panic of unreadiness for battle, the imperiled bewilderment of the stubborn bull that trusts overlong to its own sheer courage against snares too cunning for courage to offset. The time for the customary payment of the price of English unreadiness again had come.

But the price this time threatened the total loss of English prestige.

NEVERTHELESS, the crisis was gallantly faced. In the Army Council it was decided to hurl against the German force of invasion, swiftly and terribly, the full strength of all the British soldiery now in England. The spirit of the troops was known—there would be no remotest likelihood of any backward step—it was the simple issue of victory or death.

Already had the Volunteer Reserves been called into the field. They would constitute the second line of national defense.

Lord Kitchener of Khartoum would command the regulars of the British line, the first to confront the invaders, the First German Army Corps of Eastern Prussia, commanded by Gen. von Kluck. His English duty it would be to drive the Germans into the sea or die fighting.

"I shall give battle to Von Kluck at once," said Kitchener—and two hours later he had left London and the first line of English national defense was moving to meet the Prussians — the regiments of Kaiser Wilhelm's own choosing for the honor of leading the German invasion of England.

The task of the Admiralty Office was more difficult. It was against England's navy, not her army, that the prime menace of the Zeppelin aerial battleship prevailed.

It was the plan of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford's suggesting that was finally adopted—a sacrificial plan, involving, perhaps, the piecemeal destruction of the Second Battle Squadron of the Home Fleet, commanded by Vice-Admiral Sir Archibald Berkeley Milne, in the flagship "King Edward VII." But it would be a sacrifice which might not be consummated until desperate sea fighting by the English ships, purposely scattered, had inflicted more injury on German battleships and transports than was elsewise possible.

"A massed fleet," said Beresford, "is but the better formation for attack by the Zeppelin airships— the Second Battle Squadron would be destroyed as swiftly and surely as was the first. In smaller groups, widely separated, Milne's ships must meet and fight those of Germany. In this manner more than one group may escape the surveillance of the airship-fleet—and the sole duty of each English ship is to do what damage it may to the Germans before itself being put out of action. 'One ship for two, or three, or whatever hard-fighting may gain for that one ship'—this must absolutely control Milne's tactics. No other method is left open that does not mean immediate and complete disaster."

"I quite agree with Beresford," quickly spoke the First Lord of the Admiralty, the Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, M. P., "and I would recommend that Milne be instructed to this effect without delay. We are now in wireless touch with him. His immediate adoption of these tactics may mean the saving of the Second Squadron until at least one sea fight with the Germans is made possible."

Approved by the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, the Beresford suggestion was duly incorporated in the general British scheme of naval strategy bearing upon the depressing situation.

EMERGING from the meeting, the Army Council and the Admiralty alike met a typical English reception from the crowds massed on the street. It took the form of a ringing English cheer, full of pluck even in the face of the menace of continued, inevitable and overwhelming calamity. The dread inspired by the Zeppelin monsters of the sky was deep in English souls—but not deep enough to uproot and destroy that English hardihood of spirit which more than once has made "dying game" the glad choice of England's fighting men.

But soon there came a second shock that left all England appalled and well-nigh hopeless.

The splendid first line of national defense commanded by Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, an army comprising the King's crack regiments and embodying the fullest militant glory of England, Scotland and Ireland, was crushed and shattered to fragments in its first battle with the Prussians constituting the First Army Corps of German invasion. It was not a rout—it was annihilation.

And Kitchener himself was among the slain. The news fell upon England like a thunderbolt.

It was followed by other news of dreadful import.

THE Zeppelin airship fleet, again putting out above the sea after the great German victory on land, had encountered the Fleet of the Nore, commanded by Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Drury in the flagship "Undine." Swiftly, mercilessly, as in the case of the First Battle Squadron of the Home Fleet, the Zeppelin fighting dirigibles had performed their task.

Not one ship of the Nore Fleet escaped.

And now, supremely confident, the Prussian General, Von Kluck, proceeded to carry out to the full his imperial master's instructions for the humbling of British pride.

His army corps was in motion on the road to London.

The fall of the British capital was decreed.

The Doctor Knows Best.

A physician was summoned to a very sick man, who was very much preoccupied with troubles of his own. On arriving at the sick man's bed he said to his wife: "Your husband is in the last throes. Every movement shows that the end is nearing." At this moment the sick man's head fell over the pillow, when the doctor said: "The end has come: your husband is dead."

In a shrill, thin voice, the sick man said:

"'Tain't so, Maria."

At once the wife laid her hand on his head and remarked, "Don't disturb yourself, Rufus; the doctor knows best."—Philadelphia Record.

Poets Would Burn Libraries.

Manifesto of a New Italian School.

THE International Review "Poesia," published in Milan, Italy, has founded a new school of literature under the name of "Futurism," from the declaration of which the following is taken:

"We intend to glorify the love of danger, the custom of energy, the strength of daring.

"The essential elements of our poetry will be courage, audacity and revolt.

"Literature having up to now glorified thoughtful immobility, ectasy and slumber, we wish to exalt the aggressive movement, the feverish insomnia, running the perilous leap, the cuff and the blow.

"We declare that the splendor of the world has been enriched with a new form of beauty, the beauty of speed. A race automobile adorned with great pipes like serpents with explosive breath; a race automobile which seems to rush over exploding powder is more beautiful than the victory of Samothrace.

"The poet must spend himself with warmth, brilliancy and prodigality to augment the fervor of the primodial elements.

"There is no more beauty except in struggle. No masterpiece without the stamp of aggressiveness. Poetry should be a violent assault against unknown forces to summon them to lie down at the feet of man.

"We are on the extreme promontory of ages! Why look back since we must break down the mysterious doors of impossibility? Time and space died yesterday. We already live in the absolute, for we have already created the omnipresent eternal speed.

"We will glorify war—the only true hygiene of the world—militarism, patriotism, the destructive gesture of anarchist, the beautiful ideas which kill and the scorn of woman.

"We will destroy museums, libraries and fight against moralism, feminism and all utilitarian cowardice.

"We will sing the great masses agitated by work, pleasure or revolt; we will sing the multicolored and polyphonic surf of revolutions in modern capitals; the nocturnal vibration of arsenals and docks beneath their glaring electric moons; greedy stations devouring smoking serpents; factories hanging from the clouds by the threads of their smoke; bridges like giant gymnasts stepping over sunny rivers sparkling like diabolical cutlery, adventurous steamers scenting the horizon; large-breasted locomotives bridled with long tubes and the slippery flight of aeroplanes, whose propeller has flaglike flutterings, and applauses of enthusiastic crowds.

"Therefore, welcome the kindly incendiarists with the carbon fingers! Here they are! Here! Away and set fire to the book shelves! Turn the canals and flood the vaults of museums! Oh! Let the glorious old pictures float adrift! Seize pickaxe and hammer! Sap the foundations of the venerable towns!

"When we are 40, let other younger and more daring men throw us into the waste paper basket like useless manuscripts!

"Look at us! We are not exhausted. Our heart is not in the least weary! For it has been nourished on fire, hatred and speed! You are astonished? It is because you do not even remember living!

"Erect on the pinnacle of the world, we once more hurl forth our defiance to the stars!"

ROGER WOULD LIKE TO HAVE HIS PICK OF BROOKLYN PITCHERS, IN PRESENT PENNANT RACE KETCHEL THINKS O'BRIEN WILL GO DOWN BY THE KNOCKOUT ROUTE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT SPORT

LUMLEY'S TEAM IS STRONG IN ITS PITCHERS

Bresnahan Might Land in First Division With Brooklyn's Corps of Boxmen.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

GOOD pitching generally makes a baseball team. The splendid twirling of Mr. Bell of the Brooklyn club in the first game against the Cardinals made the visiting organization look like champions. Their best hitters and fielders were out of the game, yet because Bell performed in such masterly fashion in the box, the others had but little to do. Fred Beebe pitched for the home team and was just far enough behind the form of Bell to lose the game by a score of 2 to 0.

The Brooklyn club has a string of splendid pitchers, a couple of slugging batsmen and a crowd of unknowns. The slugging batsmen were on the crippled list Monday, but the crowd of unknowns, with the excellent Mr. Bell, gave the Cardinals a neat and thorough trimming, it being the second time this season that Roger's fighting kids have been shut out.

When one considers that Brooklyn has at least three more pitchers on the club rated just as high or higher than Bell there seems but a slim chance that the Cardinals are going to advance much during the series.

However, all good pitchers are not good all of the time, and possibly one or two of them may be off color.

Bell pitched one of his splendid games Monday. He's a big, powerful right-handed hurler and he has speed and control. He seemed able to shut his eyes and hurl at full speed and still cut the plate after the first inning's work had given him control. His curve ball was breaking low over the outside corner and part of the time the umpire allowed strikes on it. He always was master of the situation, and, though in tight places at times, still he did not hesitate to use full speed. So it was almost impossible for the Cardinal batters to "get him in the hole." They had to swing at the ball, and if they managed to hit it, it was generally a feeble grounder or an easy pop fly.

It must be comforting to a manager to have such pitchers. One could almost detect the look of envy in the eye of Roger Bresnahan as he watched Mr. Bell hurling the Cardinal batters down one after the other at the plate, while at the same time, such prominent twirlers as McIntyre, Rucker, Wilhelm and Scanlon were sitting on the bench ready for action at a moment's notice.

Just give Roger that string of pitchers and he'd have the Cardinals fighting with the first division set in the National League in short order.

Brooklyn didn't seem strong on the infield, but the men were capable of handling those easy grounders that Mr. Bell permitted the Cardinals to roll to them. The Brooklyn outfielders can catch pop flies nicely. The catching department seemed weak but an ordinary man could sit in a rocking chair behind the bat and catch the pitching that Mr. Bell handed out Monday.

The Cardinals gave Beebe strong support. There was no kick on the fielding this time. It was simply a case of being unable to hit at the right time. One Cardinal got as far as third base. Two others reached second. Not one of them could get home.

Umpires' Delight Seems to Be in Sending Players From Field

IT'S becoming a common occurrence to see players chased to the clubhouse each day at League Park. It wasn't so surprising to see members of the New York club in trouble with the umpires because they have a reputation for doing such things continually. But when a meek and lowly club, such as Brooklyn, gets into rows with the arbitrators, it seems there must be something wrong. Umpire Truby sent Pitcher McIntyre from the field early in the game for some unheard remark made from the players' bench. In the fifth inning, Lennox, the hard-hitting youngster of the visitors, became enraged when Truby called a doubtful strike on him. Truby made him leave the plate and another had to take his place. Then in the ninth, just before the game closed, Bresnahan himself flew to a fury at the calling of strikes and he, too, was sent from the field. Some things are not entertaining to the people who pay money to see a game of ball.

Young Mr. Lennox, who is one of the prominent beginners in the big league this season, seems to have all the requirements to make good. He didn't have a chance to do much fielding Monday, but his batting and base running was marked. His first time up, he singled to right field and after getting as far as third base with two men out, he attempted a daring steal of the home plate, and almost made good with it.

BILLY GILBERT played in Charles' place at second base again, but Shaw was put back in center field, after but one day of rest. Gilbert hit a pretty double to right center in the third inning when Hulswitt was on first with no one out. Billy had to slide to get the middle bag and he slid too far, rolling over a yard on the other side and was tagged out trying to get back. Hulswitt was then run down between third and home and spoiled the best chance the Cardinals had to count.

Fred Beebe had the luck of the game break against him in both of the innings that the Brooklyns scored. The first run came in the fifth. Lennox was batting and with two strikes and three balls called; he was sent from the field for disputing with the umpire. McMillan took his place, and after fouling off one ball, he popped a short fly to right field. Evans came in on the tear trying to make a catch, but couldn't reach the ball and it rolled past him for a double. Kustus sacrificed, then McElveen slashed a bounder to Byrne, who shot home, but the throw was too high and just a trifle too late and McMillan slid in for the first score. The other score came in the sixth when Burch drew a base on balls and stole second, Roger's throw being wide and low. Hummel fanned, then Alperman bounded a slow one to deep short and beat it for a single. With the infielders playing in close, Hunter rapped a single to left, scoring Burch.

ALPERMAN is one of the good second basemen of the National League. He has everything necessary to make a good ball player. He hits well, fields beautifully and has speed on the bases. He has been on the Brooklyn club now as one of it's strong members for three or four years and still hasn't made a great reputation. Had he been on a leading club all this time his name would doubtless have been as prominent as Johnny Evers'.

Rhodes and Sallee are expected to work against Brooklyn in the last two games. Sallee took Beebe's place Monday when the later gave his place at the bat to Lush in the eighth inning. Rucker and McIntyre are supposed to be the pitchers for Brooklyn in the other two games.

SPARKS' PIGEON WINS LONG RACE IN EXCELLENT TIME

A bird owned by C. M. Sparks won the 300-mile homing pigeon race for pigeons owned by members of the St. Louis Racing Pigeon Club, flown from Vinita, Ok., Sunday, with an average speed of 1226.37 yards per minute. The winner's time was 7 hours 14 minutes. The airline distance is 302 miles. A. H. Huhlman's bird, with an average of 1217.12 yards per minute, was a close second, and a bird owned by F. J. Sohus third, with an average of 1207.89 yards per minute.

BROWNS NEED RUBE BUT HE'S STILL ABSENT

Big Southpaw Dare Not Go to Boston; Team Beaten in the First.

BOSTON, June 8.—The absence of Rube Waddell is causing distress to Manager McAleer of the Browns. He was so worked up over the matter that he felt inclined to send for the big southpaw Monday night, and take a chance that he could slip into the ball park, pitch one game, and get out of town again before the law could tie him here because of domestic troubles.

The Browns were beaten in the first game of the Boston series and Manager McAleer is in fear of losing the others, but is confident he could have won two of them had he been able to have brought Waddell along.

Before leaving New York, McAleer received a telegram from Rube's lawyers in St. Louis, telling him that should he take Waddell to Boston, the chances are the law would get him and possibly tie him up there for some time. Rube's wife, from whom he has been separated for several years, is living in this State and as Rube has failed to live up to agreements on money matters, he dares not enter this State for fear of arrest.

McAleer announced that he thought the matter would all be settled soon, as lawyers are working on it now and that when the Browns come here again Rube will be along with the team.

Howell Back in Game.

There was a pleasant feature of Monday's game for McAleer, although he was badly beaten. When Young Bill Graham was pounded to the bench, McAleer put in Harry Howell just to try him out and see if he had recovered from his injury of the early spring. Harry pitched fine ball and assured McAleer that he is ready for continuous work from now on. He had his speed and his "spit ball" was breaking nicely. Young Wilber Smith, the catcher just breaking into fast company, took Stephens' place behind the bat when Howell relieved Graham and he, too, showed class. It was his hit that drove home two of the Browns' four runs.

KETCHEL HOPES TO STOP O'BRIEN IN SIX ROUNDS

Middleweight Champion Says He Has Geared Himself Up to Opponent's Speed.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Stanley Ketchel, who is to meet Jack O'Brien in a six-round fight at Philadelphia Wednesday night, ended his training here today and announced his program for the battle.

"I am feeling so good that I know I am perfectly fit, so you see, I reserved Tuesday for a rest," he said. "Wednesday morning I will patch up any flaws there might be in my speed.

"I expect to knock out O'Brien in the first few rounds. It took me until the tail end of 10 rounds to catch him, the last time, and now it is only a question of crowding the same amount of fighting in the six rounds.

"My training to this time has been with a view to accomplishing that. O'Brien is said to be the fastest six-round man in the ring, and most of the experts, I see, say that there is no one who can whip him in six rounds. I will show the experts, Wednesday night, that O'Brien will be out of the game before the six rounds have finished."

RESPESS SELLS ESSEX PARK AND QUITS HOT SPRINGS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 8.—Through a deed filed with the Circuit Clerk here, the famous Essex Park racetrack property was turned over to Simon Cooper, a livery man of this city. The price paid is $14,000. Jerome B. and Esther Respess signed the bill.

The transfer marks the elimination of the Corrigan or Respess faction from local racing affairs. The failure of legislation in behalf of racing in the last General Assembly was credited to the strife between the racing factions.

C. B. C. NINES TO HOLD A BASEBALL FIELD DAY

The annual C. B. C. baseball field day for members of both the regular team and reserves will be held on the college campus, Wednesday afternoon. The events to be decided are: Circling the bases against time, beating out a bunt against time, throwing for distance, throwing at a target and fungo batting. After this the members of the college baseball teams will be the guests at a reception tendered by an alumnae of the institution.

Des Moines Gets Ames Coach.

DES MOINES, June 8.—Clyde Williams, football, basketball and baseball coach of Iowa State College, at Ames, and for the past two seasons with the Toledo American Association team, has been bought by President John F. Higgins of Des Moines Western League team. He will report for work in Omaha Wednesday. Williams will play second base.

Sidelights on Victory of Boston Cripples Over McAleer's Hospital

BOSTON, Mass., June 8.

"CY" MORGAN watched the Browns game Monday from the grand stand. He will leave for Philadelphia Tuesday. He said that the cold weather of this spring was responsible for his wildness and that he was glad of the chance to go to Connie Mack and was confident of his ability to make good.

"Silk" O'Loughlin, the arbitrator who "makes no mistakes," clearly made a big one when he declared Speaker safe in the first. The ball went to Graham on the first bound and he recovered it and got his man with ease, but to the surprise of everybody, the arbitrator called the runner safe.

Speaker had three putouts in succession in the first and second innings.

Hooper's drive bounded off Graham to Ferris and counted as a safety.

Boston certainly has some fine talent in Pitcher Collins and Infielder Gardner of the University of Vermont and Catcher Raymond of Brown University. The latter is said to be a wonder.

The Red Sox are certainly drawing wonderfully here. The right field bleachers are packed to overflowing every game and there was a fine patronage of the 50-cent section. Detroit played to over 37,000 last week and had a game been played Saturday without doubt not far from 20,000 would have been on hand.

Many expressed surprise when Manager Lake pulled Arellanes out in the fourth, when he had passed but one man. The local manager is taking few chances these days.

"Hobe" Ferris, so long second baseman here, gave a fine exhibition and made several fine plays.

Danny Hoffman worked under difficulties, limping perceptibly.

Graham fanned two men in the first inning, but was batted regularly the next three innings and it was a wonder he was not taken out earlier.

Jake Stahl dealt himself a stinging blow in the fifth, by a sharp foul that came precious near injuring his eye. It did not stop him from making his third hit.

McAleese robbed Cicotte of a hit by the best catch of the game, in the fifth, by getting the ball in short left after a desperate run.

Charley Wagner, Gessler and McConnell of the locals are on the hospital list, but may get back into the game any day. Cicotte has yet to lose a game and has five straight wins to his credit.

Harry Lord is playing phenomenal ball and has made a great hit with the public. He is acting captain and sure to have the job regularly, sooner or later.

Niles had great difficulty in getting the ball over to Stahl and the latter had to do a lot of jumping to handle the balls thrown him.

The crowd howled at Ferris when he lunged at a wide one he could not possibly have reached for a third strike in the seventh.

"Bobby" Wallace did not have an assist until the seventh, and then he made a great one off Stahl. In the same inning Roy Hartzell had his first putout, intercepting Wolter's terrific drive, a play that was liberally applauded.

STAUNTON TEAM TO PLAY HERE

The game between the Staunton and Hyde Park clubs of the Old Trolley League, scheduled to be played at Staunton, Ill., Sunday has been transferred to St. Louis, and the game between Staunton and the Hyde Parks, to be played in this city on June 27, has been transferred to Staunton.

Mayor Luker of Staunton has sent word to Henry Kulage that he has chartered three special interurban cars to bring the friends of the Staunton team to St. Louis for Sunday's game.

Last Sunday the Gillespie (Ill.) team was leading the league, with six games won and none lost. Staunton defeated Gillespie at Staunton, 3 to 0, and now the Hyde Parks and Gillespie teams are tied for the lead, with six games won and one lost each.

The Hyde Parks have not lost a game on their home grounds, Kulage Park, this season, and the contest is expected to be a good one. Walter Wolff, the new shortstop of the Hyde Parks, counted one of the best in the league, who had his hand injured in his first game last Sunday, has discovered that his finger is broken, and he will be out of the game for several weeks.

INDEPENDENCE II TO BE SOON READY TO RACE

Miss Florence Koenig, with a bottle of champagne, will formally christen the new 39-foot 6-inch speed boat Independence II, at the dock of the St. Louis Power Boat Association, foot of North Market street, at 5:30 p. m. one week from Wednesday.

The Independence II is the property of Edwin C. Koenig and is expected to prove one of the fastest boats in the country, as the craft will have eight cylinders and about 225 horsepower in the lightest hull that could possibly be built for the boat.

In fact, the craft will be a mere racing shell of the lightest but strongest ash.

Commodore Phillips of the Power Boat Association will cut the rope releasing the craft.

The Independence will compete in the first race of the year at Burlington, Io., on July 6, when racing boats valued at close to $50,000 will meet in a series of contests.

AND THEN SOME, SAYS DREYFUSS

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 8.—"If I have said anything against Mr. Murphy that I ought to be sorry for I'm glad of it. Yes, I did call Mr. Murphy a rat. If he can think of anything worse than a rat—well, he's that, too," was the reply made by Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg team, to a friend of Charles Murphy of the Chicago team, who had suggested that he should send an apology to the Cubs' owner for the way in which he had talked about him last Saturday.

"That's all the apology I'm going to make to Mr. Murphy," he continued. "He comes out in a public statement and admits that he did not tell the truth when he promised to stay out of that meeting at Cincinati, that after he got me out of town he slipped back and cast the vote that robbed Pittsburg of a game. I don't know how to deal with men of Murphy's caliber. I ain't used to them.

"So he don't like the term 'rat' and thinks I should apologize? Well, I would change the word 'rat' if I could think of anything meaner. Apologize? Rats!"

Glover Beats Wagner.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Johnny Glover of Boston had a shade on Joe Wagner, a rival bantam of this city, in a ten-round bout Monday. The first three rounds were even, the sixth and seventh were full of clinching and in-fighting, the eighth was Wagner's, but in the last two Glover was strong. Bothe men finished fresh.

OWNERS WANT MORE RACING

NEW YORK, June 8.—Horseracing on the Metropolitan racetracks under the new anti-betting laws, has been apparently successful for the track owners and unsuccessful for the horse owners.

In view of the gate money taken in at Belmont Park and Brighton Beach it has been practically decided to hold fall meetings at the local tracks. Even Jamaica and Aqueduct will open their gates for short sessions, so that the sport may continue until the first of November.

But the horse owners are clamoring for at least four days, if not five a week and say that unless the schedule is increased, they will be compelled to ship their horses to the Canadian tracks where racing is held every day.

MAHMOUT WILL WRESTLE DR. ROLLER AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., June 8.—Announcement was made Monday night that Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle and Yussiff Mahmout, known as the second "Terrible Turk, would meet in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match at the Alaska Yukon-Pacific Exposition arena, on the night of Friday, June 18.

Dr. Roller is now in Philadelphia and Mahmout in Anderson, Ind.

The deal was closed by telegraph yesterday and both men will start at once for Philadelphia.

TEXAS' GOVERNOR MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION TO STOP BOXING GAME

GALVESTON, Tex., June 8.—The 20-round pugilistic encounter in Austin in which Victor Lyons was so badly beaten in 11 rounds by George Kepp that he died from his injuries, has aroused Gov. Campbell, who says he may within a few days call the third special session of the Legislature to prevent further sparring in Texas.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

OPTIMISTIC Danny Hoffman went away from St. Louis scattering the belief recklessly about that the Browns would be fighting for the pennant by the middle of July. Unless Daniel is to be a sadly disappointed person the Browns will have to beat all fire department records at climbing.

The Browns are already nine games out of first place and the season is more than one-fourth departed. The club is showing less brilliantly the further the race progresses, possibly due to the many misfortunes that have overtaken the team. In order to overtake the Detroits at once the Browns would have to win the next 18 games, while the Tigers were breaking even on the same number of contests. This would make the relative percentages .611 for the Browns and .610 for Detroit.

But the Browns have shown few alarming symptoms of being able to win 18 straight, while the Tigers positively refuse to be satisfied with less than a .650 percentage.

Indications seem to be that the pitching in the National League has fallen off. The batting of many players of mediocre caliber, last year, has vastly improved this season. Several players of the Brooklyn club are going excellently this year who last season could not find one out of a flock of balls. Wagner of Pittsburg has steadily increased his hitting until today he is batting around .400 and still improving. Youngsters of the Cincinnati, Brooklyn and other clubs are making good with percentages unjustified by their minor league records.

Perhaps this is partly due to the almost universal bad start obtained by all the pitchers of the league. The Cubs' staff was almost to a man far below normal efficiency early in the season; so much so that the Cardinals ran these worlds' champions from the box, while the Pirates won seven out of eight games played. Possibly, when the pitchers settle down to a hot-weather basis, there will be a large shrinking of batting percentages and the Mitchells, Oakeses, Lennoxes and others will come back to the common herd.

PERHAPS the most disappointing club in the National League is Philadelphia. This team on paper, prior to the season, seemed one of healthy soundness and even balance. The club is proving a distinct failure, however. Its pitchers do not seem to have attained their best form, while the entire club is afflicted with that lack which is oppressing the Browns—weakness on the bases. For three years this club has been named as the dark horse of the League and has been more or less generally suspected of ability to upset form. Philadelphia will have to be passed up, on its showing to the present time. With such snappy men in the field as the Pirates and such sterling players as the Cubs coming to form, with the Giants gradually warming up, Philadelphia will have to hold the rain check.

FEW persons realise the hold that recreation and sport has on the American public. As a matter of fact the outdoor field is so broad as to have developed almost a language of its own. Numberless queries are received daily asking the meaning of sporting terms. To keep the telephone girls from being overworked, it has therefore been decided to print, from time to time, a glossary of synonyms and definitions of various sporting words and phrases, the first installment being given below:

A screeching double—Twins, time 3 a. m.

Too hot to handle—A base hit, at home; an error abroad. Requires nice judgment to distinguish.

A free pass—Something friends always want and you never have.

A great wing—Generally the property of a bird of a pitcher.

A high ball—Many players hit these with great regularity. They can be readily placed in center.

Robber—An umpire; term must not be employed when the party is on the same side of the fence.

Contract jumper—One who jumps at a contract (new version).

Official scorer—One who never agrees with anybody.

Flew out—Not permitted; generally classed as fowl language. Flied out is better.

Whiffed—It generally precedes an invitation by the manager to smoke up.

Benched—A dog show term.

A home run—Generally applied to the action of spectators after a 15-inning game.

An error—Depends on which team you favor.

A fielder's choice—Buttermilk or beer.

There is some tone to this Brooklyn pitcher, Bell.

Wanted: Two Mathewsons, a Miner Brown and a couple of Ed Walshs. Apply R. Bresnahan, St. Louis.

It's well that Dode Criss can pitch some. His pinch hitting seems confined to the story books of 1908. Can this be the gentleman who led the League last year?

Cleveland, even Cleveland, the heavy-footed and heavy witted, is in front of the Browns now, while the White Sox have tied us for the seventh hole. Will Philadelphia, New York and Boston never get out of breath?

Miss Ferris Must Play Sterling Tennis to Win

The winner of the match between Miss Marianna Taussig and Miss Margaret Ferris, in the second round of the annual women's State tennis championship on the courts of the Triple A in Forest Park, Tuesday afternoon, should result in one of the best contests of the singles competition.

Miss Ferris, present holder of the city championship, is a St. Louis girl and formerly resided in Cincinnati. Miss Ferrs and Miss Taussig play entrely different styles of tennis. Miss Ferris has a great back-hand stroke and a hard, puzzling serve. In fact, as has been stated on quite a number of occasions, she plays what might be called a man's game of tennis.

Miss Taussig, on the contrary, plays a careful, consistent game. She managed to always keep the ball near the back of the court by half lobs and while she does not do much smashing, is great on placing her returns.

Can Do Tennis Marathon.

In the opening matches of the tournament, played Monday afternoon, Miss Taussig demonstrated the fact that she has plenty of endurance. The heat and strong sun was terrific when the matches were started shortly after 2 o'clock. Miss Taussig met Mrs. Robert Kaime. Mrs. Kaime put up a surprisingly good game. It seemed as though she would win the first set because of the fact that, on quite a number of occasions, she used a hard Lawford with great precision. Mrs. Kaime also covered a lot of ground which eventually resulted in her losing the set and match, owing to fatigue after the game was 4-3 in her favor. Mrs. Kaime on several occasions sent the ball into the net and drove it out of bounds, something that she was not doing early in the match. The heat undoubtedly was a great disadvantage to her and Mrs. Kaime was congratulated because of her excellent showing, as she did not lose the second set until it had went to deuce when Miss Taussig, by playing as good tennis as when she started in, won 7-5.

Miss Arnstein's Good Work.

Miss Natalie Arnstein also furnished quite a surprise in her match with Miss Margaret Ferris. In the first set Miss Arnstein seemed a trifle too anxious and lost, 6—0. In the second set Miss Arnstein settled down and time after time made returns for points that almost looked impossible. Miss Arnstein gained the lead on game, 4—3, but Miss Ferris rallied and ran the game up to deuce. After some of the best tennis witnessed in a women's tournament in a long time Miss Ferris won out, 7—5. In the other matches Miss E. Edwards defeated Miss M. White, 6—1, 6—4. Miss Evelyn Millus won one set from Miss Harriett Chamberlain, 6—0, and the games stood 4—3 in her favor in the second set when a postponement until Tuesday was agreed upon.

Quite a number of players who entered did not compete because of the fact that they had little if any practice because of the rainy weather. There is still a chance that some of the players will come out for matches in singles Tuesday.

Up to date there are 11 entries for the singles while the doubles and mixed doubles competitions have not filled as they should. It is probable that one match in mixed doubles will be played Tuesday.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

The cause of all skin diseases can be traced to some humor or acid in the blood; the cuticle is always healthy where the circulation is free from impurities. When the blood is infected with acrid or unhealthy matter it cannot perform its natural work of nourishing the skin, regulating its temperature and preserving its normal softness, pliability and healthfulness. Instead it irritates and inflames the delicate fibres and tissues around the pores and glands and produces some of the many forms of skin disease. The itching and stinging so often accompanying skin affections are produced by the deposit from the blood of the acrid humors with which it is filled, into the sensitive membranous flesh lying just beneath the outer covering, and surrounding the countless nerves, pores and glands. This explains why scratching the outer skin affords no relief from the itching and burning. S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every character by purifying the blood. It goes down into the circulation and removes the humors or acids which are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acrid blood, and permanently cures every variety of skin affection. Local applications can only soothe; they never cure because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes right into the circulation, reaches the trouble and cures it by removing the cause. Miss Wimmer will attend the commencement exercises at Culver Military Academy and later will go to Chicago as a guest of Miss Young, daughter of Brigadier-General Young.

Miss Alma Adele Brittain, daughter of Mrs. Adele Brittain of 3111 Bell avenue and a granddaughter of the late Elmise Pasquier, was united in marriage to Mr. Simon Bejach Sunday. Miss Irene Brittain, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mr. Harry Mathews, a cousin of the bride, acted as best man. A wedding dinner and reception followed the ceremony. There were 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Bejach will reside in St. Louis.

The marriage of Miss Lucile Getz, daughter of Mrs. Esther M. Getz, and Mr. Alfred Trepp will occur Wednesday noon at the home of the bride's mother in the Colchester apartments.

Miss Esther Harburger will be guest of honor at a luncheon Friday, to be given by Mrs. D. Frankel at her home, 4546 Laclede avenue.

So extensive and costly a collection of wedding presents has not been exhibited in Pittsburg before in years as that which made the Wright-Frew marriage of Monday afternoon conspicuous. In addition to scores of small but valuable gifts, there was the home of the young couple in course of construction in the East End, the gift of the parents of the bride.

The cost of the house has been variously estimated at from $250,000 to $1,000,000. It will be one of the handsomest residences in that section of palatial homes. The house will be furnished by Mrs. Wright, mother of the bridegroom.

On the third floor of the Frew home Monday night two large apartments were reserved for the wedding presents, which included almost everything that could be desired by a young couple going to housekeeping. There were two large chests of silver, one being the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Frew and the other coming from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Frick.

One of the handsomest gifts was a huge solid gold vase of unique workmanship from Andrew Carnegie. Mrs. William Frew, the bride's grandmother, gave an order for a grand piano, and Mrs. George A. Berry, Mrs. Frew's mother, gave the bride a grandfather's clock.

Mrs. George W. Dilworth, an aunt, gave a beautifully carved desk. Miss Helen Frick's gift was a unique brooch of French design and workmanship, studded with rubies, emeralds and diamonds.

The total value of these gifts is more than $1,500,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto L. Mersman of Vandeventer place will close their home this week and go to Narragansett Pier for the summer.

Miss Alby Mason will sail from New York June 10 to spend the summer in European travel with New York friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Guido Pantaleoni will leave for the East this week. They will take possession of their summer home at Biddeford Pool late in June.

Mrs. P. B. Little and her daughter, Miss Gladys Little, will spend the summer at Wequetonsing.

Mrs. N. R. Wall and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Wall, will return home this week from Chicago, where they have been for a fortnight.

Miss Rebecca Boyd will pass part of the summer with Mrs. D. R. Francis at Rye Beach. Mrs. Francis will open her home at Rye this week.

The graduating exercises at the Sacred Heart Convent will take place Monday, June 14. The graduates are Misses Grace Haren, Zoe Rozier of Ste. Genevieve, Mo., Irene Kretchman, Miriam Benoist, Mary Haydel, Ella Kinsella, Marguerite Bain, Mary Anderson, Olivia Imbs, Madge Hayden, Florence Beck, Bessie Corrigan of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman and Miss Manette Thiel arrived form Mr. and Mrs. Chapman's home in the West. They will remain in St. Louis for a few weeks as guests of Mrs. Chapman's mother, Mrs. Catherine Thiel of Lindell boulevard.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Mayes have returned home from their bridal trip. Dr. and Mrs. Mayes were quietly married June 2 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Flint of 1214 Morrison avenue. Mrs. Mayes was, before her marriage, Miss Esmathilda Berry. Dr. and Mrs. Mayes will reside at 1124 Morrison avenue.

The marriage of Miss Ida C. Rick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave W. Rick of 1312 Sidney street, and Mr. August J. Kake will occur Wednesday. It will be a church wedding. The Rev. Father Henry Geers of SS. Peter and Paul's Church will officiate. A reception at the home of the Ricks will follow the ceremony.

Miss Edwina Lynde of New Orleans, who is a guest of Miss Alice Judge of Hawthorne boulevard, was the honoree at a luncheon Monday, given by Miss Edna Griesedieck of Hawthorne boulevard at the Log Cabin Club. Mrs. Henry Nicolaus served as chaperon. The guests were Misses Katherine Miller, Elsa Griesedieck, Katherine Bohn, Lilina Weber, Maude Gildehaus, Frances Griesedieck and Elizabeth Meyer.

Miss Katherine Miller gave an informal bridge party at her Forest Park boulevard home for Miss Lynde Thursday evening.

Mrs. Harry P. Bonties will entertain at the Glen Echo Club Tuesday. Mrs. Bonties' guests will be members of the 500 club of which she is a member.

CN

DISINFECTANT

All the scrubbing in the world will not clean your house thoroughly unless you use a disinfectant with the soap and water. Millions of germs are in every home that is merely soap-cleaned, feeding upon the dust and dirt in the cracks and crevices. Don't imagine that disinfectants are only necessary when sickness comes! Use CN in all cleaning operations and you will prevent sickness. CN is the best disinfectant, because it is non-poisonous, but many times stronger than pure Carbolic Acid for the destruction of germs, insects and odors. Add a few drops to every pail of cleaning water, sprinkle it in the toilet, cuspidors, sinks, cellars and garbage can. It adds nothing to labor, costs next to nothing because you use so little of it, and makes home a healthy place to live in.

CHILD COVERED WITH HIVES

Tormented Two Months—It Itched and Irritated and Scratching Made It Worse—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight—Several Treatments of No Avail—But at Last the

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhoff, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

Boy's Back Raw

From Shoulder to Shoulder. Scratched till Blood Ran. Cured by Cuticura.

"My son's back was raw from shoulder to shoulder and the width of your hand. I really did not think he ever would be cured. He would scratch until the blood would run and he was like a raw piece of meat. I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I read of the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 6th St., Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., May 21, 1908."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults, consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. CLAUS SPRECKELS DENIES HE IS ENGAGED TO PARIS SINGER

NEW YORK, June 8.—Claus Spreckels, the third of that name in the family, identified with San Francisco and Honolulu, who, with his father, John D. Spreckels, son of the first Claus, is at the Hotel Wolcott, said yesterday he was not engaged to be married to Miss Mary Adele Case, the singer, whom he met in Paris, where both were studying vocal development.

He said also that he was not going to be married, either now or in two years, and he had never been engaged to Miss Case. He said he should leave this week for San Francisco, to go into business with his father.

"He's going back and will go into some of my business enterprises," his father said. "He was in my office before he went away and he knew all the time he was coming back to the office when he got through over there.

"About this marrying, when he finds the girl he wants, it's up to him. He's making his future, not mine."

Greatest Nerve and Blood Tonic
No. 2. M. I. S. T. No. 2.

I have given personal inspection to the working of M. I. S. T. on the human system and must say that it entirely meets with my professional sanction.
B. H. Loomis, Late Administrator of Anatomy, Philadelphia Medical College.

We Guarantee M. I. S. T. No. 2 Will Cure or We Will Refund Your Money

RHEUMATISM, no matter how long standing. Any case of inflammation of the Bladder, no matter if the patients have been for years forced to use a catheter. BLOOD POISON in ANY STAGE. ANY CASE OF DIABETES.

In addition to the above, M. I. S. T. No. 2 has cured many cases of Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Spinal Trouble and apparently incurable diseases of the nerves and has removed from the system cancer and cancerous growths.

M. I. S. T. has been on the market for over 20 years, and has cured thousands of sufferers. It is prescribed by leading physicians all over the country. It is pleasant to take and absolutely safe. It never increases or diminishes the action of the heart. If you are suffering from any chronic disease you are urged to write to us, no matter how many doctors or kinds of medicines you have tried without relief. WE GUARANTEE TO CURE YOU or refund your money. That you may judge of the value of this Great Remedy for yourself, we will send you one week's treatment by mail FREE, only asking that when cured yourself you will recommend it to others. Write confidentially to our medical department, giving symptoms. $1 per box, or six for $5.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

PRICES CHANGE ARE FRACTIONAL AT THE OPENING

General Advances Are Registered in First Half Hour; London Quiet.

NEW YORK, June 8, 12:30 p. m.

The irregularity that was in evidence at the opening of the market was displaced by a strong tone during the forenoon. The entire list made an upward move.

Anaconda and Colorado Fuel gained ¼ each, Amalgamated Copper and Lead ½ each, Smelting and People's Gas ¾ each, and United States Steel common and preferred 1 each. Consolidated Gas was dull and unchanged.

Southern Pacific was the feature of the rail stocks, advancing 3½ points above its opening figure. B. & O., Great Northern and Northern Pacific gained 1 each, Atchison, M., K. & T. and Reading 1¼ each, St. Paul, Union Pacific and New York Central 1½ each, and Wisconsin Central 3. The others were fractionally higher.

Trading was in much reduced volume from yesterday, the total sales to noon amounting to 425,800 shares.

Irregular price movements featured the opening transactions on the stock exchange today. Divergences from the closing figures were, in almost all instances, limited to very small fractions.

Steel common and preferred, People's Gas and General Electric lost ¼ each; and Amalgamated Copper ⅝. Colorado Fuel gained ¼, and Smelting was at parity.

In the rails section Atchison, Great Northern and C. & O. declined ⅛ each; Canadian Pacific, Erie and New York Central ¼ each; Pennsylvania, the Rock Island stocks, Union Pacific and Wabash preferred gained ⅛ each; Southern Pacific ¼, Reading and Northern Pacific ½ each, and B. & O. ¾.

St. Paul and Missouri Pacific were unchanged.

Trading in the first half hour was fairly active, especially in Reading and Baltimore & Ohio, both of which were sharply advanced. The entire list, with a few unimportant exceptions, moved upward.

Wabash preferred and Pennsylvania advanced ¼ each; Union Pacific, Rock Island common, Northern Pacific and D. & R. G., ⅜ each; Erie ½, St. Paul ⅝, Southern Pacific, Atchison and B. & O. ⅝ each; Reading and New York Central 1 each.

The industrials were unchanged outside of the Steels, which advanced fractionally. American securities in London were quiet about parity.

BOND MARKET.

Believing that the demand for bonds promises to be better during the current month than it has been at any time since the beginning of the year, the investment houses are publishing unusually attractive lists of offerings. The feature of these lists is the larger number of public service corporation issues, offered at prices to net 5 per cent and over. For such bonds there has been a good demand for some little time, in fact ever since the standard railroad and better class industrial issues advanced to a point where they are not particularly attractive as regards income.

TITLE GUARANTY GOES TO STILL HIGHER LEVELS

South Side Bank Is Advanced Ten Points Over Monday.

Title Guaranty Trust stock is evidently scarce on the local Stock Exchange, or it is being held for higher figures, because after a sale at 87½ at Tuesday's first session—3½ points above Monday's final transaction—88¼ was bid for it, without eliciting any offers at less than 90. This is getting with measurable distance of the highest price of 1903. Railways preferred was again a trifle weaker, being ⅜ lower than Monday. The 4s and common were steady. Bank stocks were very dull and quotations on them about unchanged. South Side Bank had quite a jump, being bid up to 270, against 260 on Monday.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange has listed to trading $500,000 new Bankers' Trust stock and $2,477,000 United Railways 4s, Nos. 28,293 to 30,769, inclusive.

East St. Louis News

Detectives Florence and Hess found use for their revolvers on two successive days this week. Sunday night they arrested Charles Johnson, alias Charles Schumacher, wanted by St. Louis and Moberly police. The arrest was made at the Rathskeller saloon, and Johnson resisted until he was subdued by the display of revolvers in the hands of his captors. Monday afternoon they attempted to arrest Charles Faulkner of Evansville, a fireman for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, on the complaint of a Belleville girl. Faulkner fled through the railroad yards. Several shots were fired in the air by the officers before Faulkner concluded to stop and submit to arrest.

By a vote of 4020 to 300, the residents of East St. Louis accepted the annexation of Oak Park to East St. Louis at Monday's election. This property lay between Lansdowne and Edgemont, and completes the annexation of all territory immediately adjoining the former city limits of East St. Louis on the east.

When the contents of the pockets of Bino Cerel and August Castella were piled on the clerk's desk at the police station at midnight Monday, it gave the police the impression that they had captured walking arsenals. Cerel and Castella were arrested by Patrolman Burnett near the Eads Bridge approach. They resisted Burnett's efforts to lead them to the police station and tried to reach their guns. Burnett clubbed them into submission. The men had two dirks, two knives, two loaded revolvers, three watches, six skeleton keys and a piece of a candle. They will be held pending an investigation. The men told the police they found the keys and watches while walking along the railroad tracks.

MONEY MARKETS

Three and four months loans in St. Louis were 4 to 5 per cent, depending upon the character of the applicant for credit. Some of the banks were putting money on call in fair-sized amounts.

As a general rule the situation showed no change of important nature. Outlying institutions reported a very fair inquiry for funds, but no changes in discount figures.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The following table shows the high and low for money during the last week in the New York market:

GENERAL TONE OF GOVERNMENT REPORT BEARISH

Splendid Spring Wheat Prospects Offset Poorer Condition of Winter Variety.

The Government grain report issued at 1 o'clock, St. Louis time, makes the condition of winter wheat 80.7 per cent, compared with 83.5 on May 1, 1909; 86 on June 1, 1908; 77.4 on June 1, 1907, and a 10-year average of 80.5. The condition of spring wheat is 95.5 per cent, with an area of 18,391,000 acres, which is 1,183,000 acres or 6.9 per cent more than sown last year.

So well had the trade experts interpreted crop conditions, that they had the tone of the report well enough gauged in advance to obviate any intense excitement on the posting of the report in the pit. The figures contained some surprises, but no really radical price movements were caused. The report, on the whole, was considered decidedly bearish, as the decline of 3 points in the winter wheat condition during May was thought to be offest by the splendid prospects indicated in the spring wheat region. Not only is a very large acreage of the latter variety shown, but an excellent condition as well.

Prices had sold down sharply in anticipation of a bearish report, and when the bullish winter wheat condition was posted a strong rally occurred, which carried prices up to fractional net gains. The offsetting conditions in the spring wheat territory caused a further sag, however, and the close was in an easy position, unchanged to ½c lower for the day.

Most of the routine news had been discounted and with a majority of the traders awaiting the Government report and unwilling to commit themselves to any extent until its arrival, the market presented an extremely dull appearance during the early periods of the session. The opening was firm, in sympathy with a firm start at Chicago, where prices responded sharply to the gains made in other markets yesterday. Statistical news was bearish, world's shipments showing the expected smaller volume and there was a liberal decrease in the domestic visible. Cables were firm, and European crop reports decidedly unfavorable. The drouth in Argentine is now approaching the point where very serious apprehension seems justified and then damage reports, as well as a good spot demand from the Continent.

Most of these factors had been anticipated and were largely discounted by yesterday's advances, but when Chicago opened sharply higher, the local market responded with a quite sharp initial opening bulge. There seemed little support, however, and prices soon began to sag. There were further good rains all over the winter wheat belt, Kansas and the Southwest being well supplied, and most early private advices were favorable. Everything hinges on the climate from now on and with seasonably warm weather reasonably probable, the idea seemed growing that the short side of the market is unsafe.

Early opinions as to the probable tone of the Federal figures, some placing the winter wheat condition a little above and some slightly below last month's level of 83.5, suggesting a crop of 395,000,000 bu. No very radical changes were expected, but the general anticipation was of a bearish report. The weather for the past month has been all that could be asked. The general opinion early in the day was that the report would have to be extremely bullish to vindicate the private crop reporters and to justify the present levels of price. Of course it will still be some time before the new crop starts coming in and the immediate shortage, resulting in such exceptionally high prices on cash wheat, caused caution among the believers in the short side. However, as the trading now centers in the new crop positions, a bearish trend of sentiment became general on the belief that at least ordinary crop conditions would be shown. It was expected that the spring wheat report would show a very good condition and a good-sized acreage.

Receipts in all positions were light and the cash situation continued strong. Prices on futures, however, sold down steadily from the firm start, and toward noon showed an easy undertone at considerably lower levels.

July wheat opened ¼c to ½c higher, at $1.16 to $1.16¼, declined to $1.15⅛, rallied to $1.15¼ and declined to $1.15. September wheat opened ⅝c higher, at $1.09⅝, and declined to $1.08⅝. December wheat opened ⅝@½c higher, at $1.09⅝, and declined to $1.08⅝.

The posting of the Federal figures caused a very nervous and unsettled tone. Only 15 minutes was left teh traders to get a line on the report and some rather violent fluctuations were the result. When the winter wheat condition of 80.7 was received, considerable buying set in and the early declines were recovered from. However, th spring wheat condition of 95.2 per cent, with an indicated increase of 1,000,000 bu, was thought to have effectually discounted the comparatively poor showing of the winter grain. The figures seem to indicate a total crop of winter and spring wheat combined of fully 690,000,000 bu, which admits, especially in view of the high prices, of nothing but a bearish interpretation.

Prices again eased off and closed in an easy position. July wheat closed at $1.15¼ bid, September wheat at $1.09¼ bid, and December wheat at $1.09¼@1.09⅜ bid. Cash wheat ruled dull but strong. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 51,000 bu.

SUGAR MARKET

NEW YORK, June 8.—London cables show that cane is firm but quiet; Java, 11s 6d; beet is quiet and rather easier; June, 10s 7½d; July, 10s 7½d; Aug., 10s 9d.

Local refined sugars are quoted on the basis of 4.85c less 1 per cent for standard granulated. Federal is quoted on the basis of 4.95c.

The local raw sugar market ruled firm and the tendency seems to be upward, with buyers bidding quoted rates and sellers asking more money. Duty paid prices were thus quoted: Centrifugal, 96 test, 3.42c; muscovado, 89 test, 3.42, and molasses sugar, 89 test, 3.17c.

The Federal is said to be taking orders for granulated sugar at old basis of 4.85c net, less 1 per cent cash, although quoting 4.95c. It is believed by the trade that they will hold firm at 4.95c Monday, and that other refiners will raise prices to 4.95c basis, owing to stiffening of the raw market.

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., June 8.—Comparative receipts:

	Today.	Week ago.	Year ago.
Cattle	6,000	5,200	6,900
Hogs	13,500	12,000	15,400
Sheep	10,000	7,700	4,900
Horses	200	300	200

NATIVE CATTLE—About half the total cattle receipts for the day consisted of natives. Quality included a wide range. From the start buyers were inclined to operate cautiously. Best cows, steers and heifers held close to steady, though the market was slow and draggy. Medium to inferior grades were unevenly lower. Top steers made $6.65, heifers $6.25, cows $5.25, bulls $5 and veal calves $7.25.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—Receipts in the quarantine division fell off as compared with yesterday. Arrivals ran mostly to Texas and Oklahoma stock and included some grass beeves from the Osage Nation, the first cattle to come from that section this year. A small supply of Arkansas stock also drifted in. The market opened slow and the dragginess was accentuated owing to the fact that part of the receipts were late getting in. The market generally ruled 10c to 15c lower.

HOGS—A right good supply of hogs arrived and the market opened a little slow, with prices weak to 5c lower, but later the market showed improvement and closed full 5c higher than it opened, with the top at $7.75, while the bulk of the good hogs with weight sold at $7.35@7.60. The hogs were well cleaned up before the market closed and there was a strong demand late for the good smooth hogs of all weights.

City butchers and shippers bought good hogs at $7.60@7.75, while the packers secured good hogs at $7.35@7.55 and plain mixed hogs at $7@7.30. Pigs and lights, if desirable, were ready sale, the best bringing $6.75@7.25, while the best pigs brought $6.25@6.85. Some plain pigs and lights sold at $5@5.75.

SHEEP—A good, liberal supply of sheep arrived, most of which were a little late in reaching the yards. The market opened slow and averaged about 15c lower, making prices at the close today show a loss of 15c to 40c from the latter part of last week. Best spring lambs sold at $8@8.50; best clipped lambs $7@7.50; mutton sheep $5@5.65; stockers $2.50@4 and bucks $3.50@4.

HORSES AND MULES—A small supply of horses were available for the auction today. Offerings were of a common to medium quality and bidding dragged throughout the session.

No new developments featured the mule trade and few offerings changed hands at the commission barn. Dealers reported a nominally quiet market.

INDEPENDENT STOCKYARDS.

CATTLE—There is virtually no change to the cattle market and the good finished cattle selling steady to a shade stronger and all other grades steady. Some nice, handy weight steers and heifers topping at $6.25, with demand good on this kind. Some fair to good heifers and steers, 700 to 900 pounds, sold at $5.50 to $5.75. Choice cows, $5 to $5.25; bulk of good cows, $3.50 to $4.25; canners, $1.75 to $2.25. Bulls continue in good demand, but prices a little lower, about 15c, from the close of last week. Milk cows are quoted steady, but most sellers find it hard to dispose of the common ones without making concessions of from $2 to $3 per head. Top veals, $7.50, with bulk selling at $6.50 to $7.25.

HOGS—There was a liberal marketing of hogs today and prices remained fully steady and included among the arrivals were some pretty good kinds, but none heavy. The weightiest kinds were only medium butchers. The bulk of the desirable hogs sold at $7.40 to $7.60. Packers, as well as butchers, were active buyers and wanted hogs.

Lights and mixed kinds of plain packers sold at $7.35 to $7.45. Good lights under 160 pounds, $7 to $7.40, while fair kinds of lights went at $6.50 to $7; good pigs, $6 to $6.60, while a lot of common and medium lights and pigs sold at $5 to $6. The close was strong and everything sold.

NOTICE.

Holders of the 5% bonds of Chicot County, Arkansas, maturing July 1, 1909, are requested to present the same on or before July 1, 1909, for payment, with accrued interest to date of presentation, at our office in St. Louis.

WILLIAM R. COMPTON COMPANY.

Referring to the above notice, we have purchased and now offer, subject to advance in price,

$246,600 CHICOT COUNTY, ARKANSAS,
20 YEAR REFUNDING
5% SEMI-ANNUAL BONDS.

Denomination $1000 (one bond of $600). Payable in New York City.

Interest payable January 1 and July 1.

Financial statement of the county is as follows:

Real Valuation Taxable Property. $7,000,000
Assessed Value Taxable Property 3,266,499
Total Bonded Debt (this issue only) 246,600
Population, 20,000

Chicot County contains over 400,000 acres land, practically all rich alluvial soil, suitable to the production of the best grades of cotton. Two lines of railroads and the Mississippi river furnish adequate transportation facilities. The county is rapidly developing in acreage of producing lands and a corresponding yearly increase in assessed valuation and therefore taxing power can be depended upon.

The legality of this issue has been approved by Wood & Oakley, of Chicago, and Rose, Hemingway, Cantrell & Loughborough, of Little Rock.

Ample provisions have been made by the Levying Court for the accumulation of funds sufficient to pay interest and retire principal at maturity. Reference is made to a letter from Hon. Harry E. Cook, County Judge of Chicot County, Arkansas, from which we quote as follows:

William R. Compton Company, St. Louis, Mo.

"Gentlemen—Referring to your purchase of Chicot County, Arkansas, Refunding Bonds, I beg to advise you that ample provisions have been made for the collection of a tax in each of the twenty years which these bonds are to run to pay interest promptly and create a sinking fund to retire the bonds at maturity. The sinking fund will be invested where practicable in bonds of this issue or otherwise in high-class securities.

"The present assessed value of our county is extremely low as compared with its true value, and the extensive development which is yearly bringing into cultivation additional acreage will tend to make the debt an inconsiderable burden on our people.

"The interest on the bonds now maturing has been met promptly since their date twenty years ago, and you can assure your investors of the good will of the citizens of Chicot County, and of their ability and willingness to care for these obligations in accordance with the terms of their issue.

"Respectfully yours,
"HARRY E. COOK, County Judge."

We offer any portion of the foregoing issue at 106.55 and interest, for delivery July 1, 1909, at which price the interest yield is 4½% amount of principal and premium invested.

Holders of maturing bonds may arrange for exchange for portions of new issue.

Full legal proceedings, copies of attorneys' opinions and description of issue are on file in our offices and can be had on application.

We recommend this issue as a conservative high-grade security, netting an unusually satisfactory rate for a direct county obligation.

YOUTH CLUTCHES WOMAN'S PHOTO, SHOOTS HIMSELF

She Thinks Act Was Prompted by "Romeo and Juliet" at Nickelodeon.

BOY WANTED TO WED

Year Too Long to Wait While Sweetheart Got Divorce, He Complained.

A nickelodeon performance of Romeo and Juliet, the tragic termination of which made a profound impression on 17-year-old John Kapper, is believed by Mrs. Minnie Gray, whom he wished to marry, to have suggested suicide to him. He shot himself in the breast at his boarding house, 1726 Division street, clasping in his left hand a picture of himself and her taken together. He is at the City Hospital, where it is feared he cannot live.

This was the second time tragedy had entered the life of Mrs. Gray, who is 24 years old and separated from her husband, George. She lives at 1922 East Grand avenue. A reporter for the Post-Dispatch saw her at her home.

Mrs. Gray, who is a tall, slender blond, with pink cheeks and big blue eyes, said of her two romances:

"I married George Gray three years ago. We eloped to St. Charles and my mother didn't know anything about it. About three months before our marriage Minnie Goss, who had been his sweetheart before he met me, killed herself when he gave her up for me.

Son Dead Two Weeks.

"George and I were not happy and we separated 15 monthes ago. Our little boy, George Jr., died two weeks ago.

"I have known John Kapper only a month. He was introduced to me by a friend of his who boards at our house. He took me to a circus and since then has been calling about twice a week. A week after he had met me he asked me to marry him and I told him I was not divorced and not free to marry.

"Sunday night we went to a nickelodeon on Franklin avenue and the bill was "Romeo and Juliet." He seemed intensely interested and did not talk to me while the performance was going on. After we left the theater he asked if there was any chance of our getting married soon. I told him if he would wait a year I might be able to get a divorce. He said that was too long, but he didn't mention suicide.

Will Not Go to See Him.

"I won't go to see him at the hospital and if he gets well he mustn't come to see me any more, for I would be afraid of a man who has done what he has done. I don't understand why people want to kill themselves. I didn't think John Kapper was that kind.

"He was born in Germany and has been in this country only three years. I think I'm the only girl he ever really loved and the disappointment over not being able to marry me right away was too much for him to bear, I guess."

When a policeman arrived at Kapper's boarding place and was watching him until the ambulance arrived, the wounded youth murmured "Tell Minnie." He also left a note, written hastily in German on a scrap of wrapping paper, asking that she be "notified."

RENEWAL OF PHILADELPHIA TRACTION STRIKE PREDICTED

Company Directors Repudiate Supposed Recognition of Union in the Settlement.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—That the street railway strike will be renewed, is freely predicted as the result of what the men call a "lemon" handed them yesterday by the directors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. at their regular monthly meeting.

When the men returned to work on Saturday morning they were especially jubilant over what they considered a recognition of the union. The traction directors, however, in a statement declared that there had been "misstatements" regarding the settlement.

"The company denies that it has recognized the union or that union officials signed the agreement," was the way they put it. Another blow for the former strikers was the announcement by the Rapid Transit directors that they would divide $25,000 among the men who remained at work, "for extra service during the strike."

WORKMAN'S RESTAURANT AT BROOKLYN NAVY YARD OPENED

NEW YORK, June 8.—Miss Anne Morgan opened her long-cherished and pet project, the Workman's Restaurant, in the Brooklyn Navy Yard last night. A large crowd of naval, military and official representatives of the Government and New York and Brooklyn society was on hand.

"If this restaurant fails," said Miss Morgan, "it will simply have to be shut down. But it won't fail. It is needed. Let us make this yard lunchroom such a success that the Government will see that such restaurants are needed in every navy yard in the land."

The cheers which greeted Miss Morgan at the conclusion of her speech were not for all the speakers. The workmen and their wives, some 6000 all told, jeered and hissed the former commandant, Rear Admiral Goodrich; showed hostility to Commandant Murdock and made so much noise that Mrs. Archibald Alexander, who has been associated with Miss Morgan in the movement, could not be heard.

HEAD WEATHER MAN PROMISES TAFT TO PROPHECY CORRECTLY IF ALL SHIPS REPORT STORMS

Prof. Moore Proposes Wireless Messages in Internationtl Code Every Day.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Prof. Willis L. Moore, head of the Government weather service, called at the White House yesterday to tell President Taft he had solved the problem of forecasting the weather.

The President was glad to hear it. Ever since Prof. Moore said that March 4 was to be a nice day and it proved to be one of the best blizzard producers ever seen outside the Dakotas, the President has had more or less distrust for the Weather Bureau prognostications. Only the other day he remarked on how remarkable it was that it rained every White House garden party day.

Prof. Moore is to sail from New York today for London, where all the weather sharps of the world are to meet in convention. Prof. Moore will propose, as he told Mr. Taft, that every licensed vessel be required to carry wireless apparatus and that each vessel be required to report the weather at least once every 24 hours. The temperature, directions and velocity of the wind and general condition must be reported, if Prof. Moore's idea is carried out. He thinks that in this way any storm that is sneaking upon an unsuspecting weather bureau may be discovered and foiled.

Prof. Moore will also advocate the adoption of an international system of storm signals so that he who runs or rides or sails may read even if he doesn't speak the same language as the sender of the message.

Falling Glass Cuts Woman.

PURE BLOOD IS THE FIRST ESSENTIAL OF GOOD DIGESTION

Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Stomach Trouble Followed by Most Remarkable Cures.

The first essential of healthy digestion is good, pure blood. Its work is to furnish a normal flow of the digestive fluids, keep up the activity of the muscles of the stomach and take up the digested food and carry it to the different tissues of the body. Loss of appetite, gas, heartburn and sour stomach are warnings or symptoms that the blood is impure and that, because of it, the stomach is unable to perform its work.

To restore the conditions for perfect digestion, it is necessary to purify and build up the blood. This explains the reason for the constantly increasing use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in all cases of stomach trouble. They contain the elements necessary to make rich, red blood and have succeeded where other remedies have failed.

Mr. M. L. Seip, of No. 2703 Jackson street, St. Joseph, Mo., who has been employed by the C. B. & Q. R. R. for over twenty years and is foreman of the repair department at St. Joseph, says:

"I think my sickness was due to the nature of my work, which makes my hours for eating irregular and, being out of doors, exposes me to all kinds of weather. I was very bilious and felt bloated all of the time. I had dizzy spells which came on me without any warning and I was afraid to go on any scaffolding for fear of falling. There was a dull, aching pain across my back. I was nervous, out of sorts and felt uneasy all of the time.

"I was treated by several doctors and a specialist from Kansas City, but obtained only temporary relief. After about three years of suffering I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I received benefit from the first box and continued with them until cured. I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house, for I believe they are the best blood medicine in the world."

Any reader who is suffering from stomach trouble should send for a copy of our diet book, entitled "What to Eat and How to Eat." It is free whether you will try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or not and it has helped many to find renewed health and vigor.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or they will be sent by mail postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

BIDS GOOD-BY TO DAUGHTER AND NEIGHBORS, TAKES LIFE

Stonemason Drinks Acid in View of All—Farewell Was Taken as a Joke.

After walking along the block and bidding his neighbors good-by, William Lemp of 4065 Easton avenue said good-by to his step-daughter, Mrs. Louis Steiner, then went into a vacant lot adjoining his home and drank three ounces of carbolic acid, at 7 p. m. Monday. He died at the City Hospital.

Lemp was 54 years old. He was a stonemason, but had been thrown out of work for months. His wife died last August, and he frequently threatened to kill himself. His relatives believe that of late he had brooded much over his lack of employment.

Monday evening he nerved himself to carry out his threat by getting under the influence of liquor. The neighbors to whom he said good-by noticed his condition and supposed that the liquor had made him jocular.

He sat down in full view of his step-daughter and several neighbors and drank the poison.

CHANDLER OBTAINED QUIET DIVORCE AND A NEW WIFE

LONDON, June 8.—Byron D. Chandler, son of a millionaire cotton manufacture and banker of Manchester, N. H., admitted to the Post-Dispatch correspondent that he was divorced several months ago and that he has since married Grace La Rue, an actress, with whom he is now living at a London hotel.

He was forced to divulge the secret as the result of a slip he made in an interview with the Post-Dispatch correspondent yesterday concerning his plans to run the motor coach "Red Skin" between London and Brighton in opposition to Alfred G. Vanderbilt's "Venture."

In the course of the conversation, Mr. Chandler mentioned that his wife would accompany him on several journeys, forgetting for the moment that he was thus letting out the secret divorce and remarriage.

"Yes," he said, "I admit being quietly divorced some months ago before sailing, and that since then I have made Miss La Rue my wife."

Beyond this bare statement, Mr. Chandler refused absolutely to give further information or details, as is shown by the following questions put by the Post-Dispatch correspondent and the answers given by Mr. Chandler:

"Will you give the date and place of the divorce?"

"No."

"Will you name the judge?"

"No, absolutely."

"When and where were you married?"

"I refuse to say."

"Will you say by whom?"

"No."

"Then you will not give any corroborating details?"

"My lawyer, Mr. Leventritt, in the Trinity Building, New York, will confirm the statement that I was divorced and I'm now married to Grace La Rue; that's sufficient. I have been hounded out of America by the newspapers and refuse to see another American reporter."

NEW YORK, June 8.—It was stated by a representative of former Judge David Leventritt last night that there had been such a case in his office, but nothing further could be learned about the matter.

NATION TO DRINK TOAST TO SAN FRANCISCO ON OCT. 10

Taft Intimates He Will Ask America to Honor City's Rebuilding in That Way.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co.

LONDON, June 8.—That on the voyage over he received a Marconigram from Washington indicating that President Taft will ask the entire American nation to lay aside work precisely at noon on Oct. 10 and drink a complimentary toast to the resourceful courage and enterprise that made San Francisco rise from its ashes, was the statement made to the Post-Dispatch correspondent by Charles C. Moore, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, who arrived on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II.

Mr. Moore brings credentials from President Taft, Secretary of State Knox and the Governor of California, and will visit practically every continental capital to invite the various governments to send battleships and representatives to participate in the great celebration of the official opening of the rebuilt San Francisco.

The correspondent asked what Mr. Taft wants the toast drunk in.

"Lemonade, well water or anything that won't arouse the Temperance League," answered Mr. Moore.

One thing a woman can learn to hold her tongue about is her age.

The finest invention would be how to go home late and be eager to get up early the next morning.

Motherhood and Babyhood

As the time approaches when a double burden rests on the mother's shoulders, nourishing and strengthening food must be provided in plenty. The superb vitality of perfect womanhood may be insured if the way is steadily prepared by a persistent use of
